American line steamship New York, westbound, while motionless in heavy fog, is rammed by the American-Hamburg line steamship Pretoria, east-bound. Hole twelve feet high and thirty-two feet long ripped in the port side of the New York. Passengers are aroused from sleep by force of collision, but no panic occurs on either ship. Both captains were on the bridge and easily calmed the fears of the excited passengers.

QUEEN WILL QUIT LONDON

Queen Mary today announced that in the event of any further hostile demonstration by the "women furies" in the vicinity of royalty, she will quit London, leaving King George to finish social season alone. The Queen is reported to be in a state of nervous prostration. Should she make good her threat to quit London the act would be an unparalleled social sensation. Police are expecting renewed outbreaks by the suffragets.

MEDIATORS PLAN ON SECOND PLANK

By Associated Press.

Niagara Falls, June 13.—In an informal conference today the American and Mexican delegates and the mediators discussed at length the second plank in the peace plan which will deal with the character of the new provisional government to succeed the present regime in Mexico. Having definitely declared in the first protocol that a government shall be set up on a certain date to which recognition will be accorded, the attention of the mediators and delegates was directed to the composition of the new government. No final agreement was reached and other meetings will be necessary before the second protocol is perfected and signed. Names of persons suggested to compose the new government were considered but action was not taken as the principal objection of the conference was to settlement on the form of government.

WOULD FORCE RECOGNITION

By Associated Press.

New Orleans, June 13.—Shipping interests here have been warned by Arcadio Zentella, New Orleans commercial agent for the Constitutionalists, that all privileges and concessions granted them by the late President Madero, of Mexico, will be annulled unless the authority of the Constitutionalists over all Mexico is acknowledged within thirty days.

NOTHING HUERTA DOES SUITS REBS

By Associated Press.

Saltillo, Mexico, June 12.—via Laredo, June 13.—After the dispatch of General Carranza's note to the mediators at Niagara Falls it was said authoritatively today that the Constitutionalists do not wish even one of their own number to become provisional president in the mediation plans providing that taking such office can be construed in any manner as legalizing any of Huerta's acts.

SLAPS WILSON ON THE BACK

By Associated Press.

Princeton, N. J., June 13.—Greeted uproariously by a huge crowd of Princeton alumnae and undergraduates, yelling "locomotive", and singing old songs, President Wilson, Princeton '79, returned to his alma mater shortly after noon today for the annual alumnae celebration.

For the day, the president was "Tommy" to the eighty-five members of the class of '79, who returned for their thirty-fifth graduating anniversary and was just like any other old graduate to the Princeton people. He was slapped on the back, cheered, hurried about and in every way treated as little like a president of the United States as possible.

WOMEN NOT TO MAKE DEMAND FOR SUFFRAGE

By Associated Press.

Chicago, June 12.—Grace Wilbur Trout, one of the leaders in the woman suffrage campaign before the General Federation of Women's Clubs said here today that there would be practically no opposition to the endorsement of the principles of woman suffrage. She added, however, that no attempt would be made to have the federation adopt suffrage as a part of its propaganda.

In diplomatic circles here it is feared this action of the Greek government, at this time, when the tension between the nations is so great, may be regarded as especially provocative by Turkey and force a crisis.

5TH BANK IS CLOSED

By Associated Press.

Chicago, June 13.—A fifth state bank has been closed by the State Bank Examiner in connection with the disclosure of the condition of the LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank. This, the State Bank of Calumet, according to the examiner, completes the chain of what was known as the string of Lorrimer-Munday banks in Chicago.

William Lorrimer, president of the LaSalle Street bank, is said to be near physical collapse from the strain of the developments of the last twenty-four hours. Approximately four millions of dollars of deposits are tied up in the institutions. Scores of children were depositors in the State Bank of Calumet. They had organized a Christmas fund. Early today, bank books in hand, they crowded about the doors but could get no money.

PRETORIA RIPS UP HULL OF NEW YORK

By Associated Press.

On Board Steamship New York via Wireless to Siasconett, Mass.—While the American liner, New York, west-bound, was motionless in a heavy fog four miles east of Ambrose lightship early today, the American-Hamburg liner, Pretoria, bound east, ran into her and ripped a hole 12 feet high and 32 feet long in her port side. The hole is flush with the main deck and is 15 feet above the water line.

So great was the force of the collision that the Pretoria's anchor was torn away and left hanging inside the gap that had been ripped in the New York.

Practically all of the passengers of both ships were asleep. Immediately after the collision the engines of both ships were ordered full speed astern and passengers came hurriedly to the decks. The passengers of the New York were able to reach over and touch the Pretoria as she pulled away from her dangerous position. There was no panic.

Captain Roberts and Chief Officer Turner were both on the bridge at the time of the collision. They assured the frantic passengers, many of whom had hurried to the starboard side of the ship anticipating a list to port, that there was no danger. Members of the crew went among the passengers and urged them to be calm.

Paris, June 13.—Rene Vivian, the socialist deputy and former minister of labor, today again accepted the task of forming a new French cabinet. Rene Viviani this evening informed President Poincare that he had succeeded in forming the new cabinet.

ITALIAN LABOR SITUATION BAD

By Associated Press.

Rome, June 13.—Detachments of troops were ordered today to take charge of the railroad stations and tracks in Rome.

This action was in consequence of the strike threats of the employees to begin a general strike throughout Italy. No decision was reached by the railroad men who held a meeting here today to discuss the proposed strike. The more moderate clan of the workmen, which regards such a move as inopportune, succeeded in securing an adjournment of the session until late in the day.

Reports from the provinces, however, indicate that the cessation of work is general in some districts. The seriousness of the strike situation in Italy was indicated in a lengthy explanation given by Premier Salandra in the Chamber of Deputies today. He hinted that the government was preparing to suppress with a stern hand any revolutionary movement.

PROGRESS MADE AT CONFERENCE

First and Most Vital Part of Peace Plan Adopted.

AGREEMENT PUT INTO WRITING

Provides For Installation of Provisional Government in Mexico to Take the Place of General Huerta. Definitely Agreed Upon That Person Selected For Provisional Head Shall Be Acceptable to Dictator.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 13.—The first and the most vital part of the peace plan evoked by the mediators has been put into writing and definitely adopted by all sides. This was done at a full conference.

The first part of the plan provides for the installation of a provisional government in Mexico to take the place of General Huerta. The actual form of succession has been left open, but it has been definitely agreed upon by all sides that no candidate will be chosen who has not been approved by Huerta.

After a candidate believed to be acceptable has been agreed upon, the Mexican delegates will transmit his name to General Huerta, and not before the choice has been sanctioned by the provisional president will it be adopted at the conference.

Developments plainly showed that the administration is prepared even to completely abandon Carranza rather than to permit the mediation conference to fail.

The fact that the new plan, which has now been definitely adopted, provides for the selection of a candidate acceptable to Huerta, was definitely confirmed by one of those most prominently connected with the conference. It was explained that the choice of the man would not be left to the dictator. The selections will be made here at Niagara Falls, but no man will be chosen who is not believed to be acceptable to the present head of the Mexican government. General Huerta, it was explained, has practically agreed to abide by the decision of his delegates.

Those who are in a position to know declared that the form of succession would be in complete accord with the Mexican constitution.

At the next meeting of the conference, the names of possible candidates for the provisional presidency will be discussed for the first time. It is freely predicted here that if the administration continues to assist the mediators in their work the proceedings will be ended within a week.

cheer. Finally someone enlightened the worthy policeman, who turned crimson with mortification.

No one enjoyed the joke more than Alfonso. With a broad grin he held out his hand and shook the policeman warmly.

"Adios, Alguazil," he said, as he pressed his foot on his electric starter in a few minutes the automobile was a speck on the San Sebastian road. Since then Policeman Pelourgeat is celebrated in Bayonne as "the man who arrested the King."

Remarkable Case.

Of thirty-three witnesses cited in a murder case which has just begun at Versailles, thirteen have died since the crime was committed thirteen years ago. The nineteen remaining will now be heard. The accused, Jean Louis Louis, had already been condemned to death by default, shortly after the murder, no trace of him being found at the time. He recently was arrested, having lived under an assumed name.

Smaller Coins.

The new nickel coinage to replace the cumbersome copper sou will make its appearance probably the latter part of this month. The authorities have been delayed in the minting as the existing plant had to be furnished with new machinery to handle the less malleable nickel.

WILSON PLEASED WITH NEW TURN

Washington June 13.—Both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were in an optimistic frame of mind in regard to the Mexican situation. The note from Carranza signifying his intention to participate in the Niagara Falls conference and the clearing of the deadlock over the method of installing the new provisional government at Mexico City were regarded as highly encouraging developments by administration officials. There was, however, no certainty that Carranza would be admitted to the conference, although Mr. Bryan refused to believe that the action of the mediators would preclude the possibility of participation in the Niagara Falls conference by the Constitutionals.

TROUBLE AHEAD OF EVADERS

Income Tax Fails to Provide
Revenue Expected From It.

Washington, June 13.—The income tax will fall by nearly $21,000,000 to provide the revenue expected from it by the framers of the new tariff law. The taxes on individual returns will be $24,000,000 less than the treasury department experts had estimated. The total assessments of individuals will be only $30,050,000, while the original estimate of revenue from the source was about $55,000,000. The government dragnet has therefore thus far caught only a little more than half what it had expected.

Government officials now realize that they are meeting with evasions which were predicted before the law was enacted. In fact the treasury department served notice of its intention to start after the "evaders."

Secretary McAdoo in a statement said: "The department is convinced that many liable to the income tax have failed to make returns and that many have made inaccurate returns. Active steps will be taken to discover all evasions of the law and a large additional amount of income tax will be collected from these delinquents."

Notwithstanding this deficit in the estimated return from the income tax, Secretary McAdoo states the treasury will end the present fiscal year of June 30 next with a surplus of about $20,000,000.

THIS KING WANTS AMERICAN HOME

By Associated Press.

Copenhagen, June 13.—King Christian has decided that the newest of his numerous residences shall be furnished in American style in every detail. He will not imitate the home of the American multi-millionaire. The style he has selected to copy is that of the simple and efficient equipment of the average American home. He has long been an admirer of the American arts and conveniences of home-making and he has insisted that his newest house, which is situated on the Skaw, will lack none of them.

The excuse for so many residences as King Christian has in so small a country as Denmark is his fondness of keeping in touch with his people, which, he maintains, he cannot do better than by living everywhere.

The king maintains an elaborate entourage, but it is only for the entertainment of visiting sovereigns and diplomats. As for himself he lives in the most simple manner. No ruler in Europe is more easily accessible.

Recently on a visit to Nakskov, the king was attracted by a delicious apple pie displayed in a shop window. He went inside to buy a piece and while there bought some cake for a small boy in the shop. Later the shop woman learned the identity of her royal customer and she promptly hung out a sign announcing that her shop purveyed to the royal family of Denmark.

During the late motor show the king evinced keen interest in the display of American motor cars and when he bought 50 lottery tickets he expressed the hope that he would win an American car.

Peculiar State of Affairs.

The Danish policemen are threatening to strike because the new women police are started out at a greater salary than male novices.

The women police have been appointed to deal with delinquent and defective women and children and the new appointees are to receive $300 more a year than regular men police when they first enter the service.

If the strike should occur the police chief will probably use the new women police as strike breakers by putting them on the beats of the strikers.

EMPEROR MAY BE EMBALMED

By Associated Press.

London, June 13.—The mystery of Menelik, the Emperor of Abyssinia, whose death has been reported innumerable times, only to be denied, remains unsolved. W. Theisger, British Minister to Abyssinia, has reported that even in Adis Abeba, the capital of Abyssinia, the facts are still unknown. No one will admit that the Emperor is dead and outside the palace there is complete ignorance on the subject.

The diplomatic corps has been unable to get at the truth; all the ministers can say is that they have not seen Menelik for years. The general belief is that the Emperor's embalmed body lies in the innermost room of the Gebi.

The capital is, however, completely tranquil and it is believed that any danger to foreigners is past.

Mr. Theisger has just completed a three months march along the Abyssinian frontier of British East Africa to inquire into the wounding of two British officers by raiders. He was accompanied by an Abyssinian escort over a hundred miles of lava strewn plain where 38 camels had to be employed to carry water for the caravan. The party marched to Nairobi, a total distance of 1116 miles.

Treating for Cancer.

Out of nearly five hundred cases of malignant cancer treated by the Radium Institute during the year 1913, fifty are described in the annual report of the Institute as apparently cured and 183 as "improved." In a number of cases the results are not yet noted.

The Institute declines to treat operable cases, radium being used only as a last resort.

"Tome only can show," the Lancet says, "if any of these satisfactory results are permanent, and not until some years have passed without fresh manifestations of the disease, could even the most favorable cases be described as cured."

WHAT IS DOING IN GERMANY

By Associated Press.

Berlin, June 13.—The Socialists and other liberal parties in the Prussian Diet are protesting against "the long unkept promise of the King."

More than six years ago the Emperor, as King of Prussia, declared it to be his desire that a modern franchise system be established in the state, to take the place of the existing three-class, non-secret ballot, which Bismarck once termed "the most iniquitous system in the world." Since Chancellor von Buelow presented the King's desire to the Diet, only one attempt, and that wholly unsuccessful, has been made by the government to carry out the King's wishes. Minister von Loebell the new incumbent of the ministry of the interior now announces that he does not propose to present any measure this year for alternation of the voting system.

Underground Railroads.

Plans are under consideration for three new underground railway systems in Greater Berlin, at an estimated total cost of $60,000,000. One line, from the northeast to the southwest, touching at the Royal Opera House, probably will be built in the near future. The other two are not yet beyond the stage of preliminary consideration. One would start in the Grunewald, pass under the Brandenburg Gate and Unter den Linden, and then branch off to the southwest. The other is a proposed extension of the existing Schoenberg Underground Railway both to the north and south. It would connect the southern suburbs directly with the main lines of the city.

New Locks Finished.

It is announced that the five years task of deepening and widening of the Baltic-North Sea Canal so as to accommodate the largest battleships will be practically completed by "Kiel Week," the latter part of this month.

The locks at the two ends, which do not raise the water level, but simply serve to prevent tidal currents, have been greatly enlarged and now exceed the dimensions of the Panama locks.

The new width of the canal is 333 feet, and its depth 36 feet. At four points the width will be such that the largest warships can easily turn around in it and reverse their course, thus enabling them to obey any sudden change of orders.

BANK BOARD IS SELECTED

Washington, June 13.—President Wilson has selected Thomas B. Jones, a Chicago lawyer, and a personal friend, to be governor of the federal reserve board. There was high authority for the statement that E. C. Simmons, a well known merchant of St. Louis, had been chosen for a place on the board. The selection of the two men will complete the president's task of choosing five members of the board. The three following members already have been selected, although no nominations have been sent to the senate: Paul M. Warburg of New York, W. P. G. Harding of Birmingham and A. C. Miller of San Francisco. The president will formally announce the selections for the board on Monday. Information that the president had chosen Mr. Jones and Mr. Simmons came as a surprise in view of the fact that their appointment will leave New England without representation on the board.

The English "Militants"

Not only is the number of women in merry old England who incline to militancy growing larger each day, but judging from the riotous conduct in which they engage and the acts of vandalism they commit, the disease from which they are suffering is becoming more acute.

The authorities of Great Britain, executive, legislative and judicial, from his Majesty King George on down through the whole long list, to village constable, are sorely troubled and at their wits end as to how to deal with the puzzling question which the women "furies" present.

Treasures of art are wantonly destroyed by the militant women. The king himself and high dignitaries of state and church are attacked and beaten and abused on every occasion. So common have the disturbances become that King George has abandoned his custom of going out unattended, so fearful is he of a scene with the "furies".

When brought into court and convicted of their crimes these women promptly go on a hunger strike and are released as the only means of saving their lives.

Never before in the history of any land or any people has a problem so difficult to deal with, confronted officials.

When Americans read of the outrages perpetrated by women in England for the purpose of furthering what they contend to be a righteous movement, they are, more than ever, justly proud of the good women of this land who are striving, but by far different and more effective means, to the attainment of the same end—equal suffrage—as are their English cousins.

It is only necessary to contrast the great gatherings of brainy women in this country, such as that one now in session at Chicago, with the anarchistic gatherings in England, to make Americans proud of their "women folks".

The course of the American women is winning converts to their cause every day, while the course of their English cousins is daily making the opposition stronger.

If they sought to demonstrate their incapacity to use authority, their actions could not be more effective for that purpose.

Bumper Crop Assurances

It is not out of the way to again call attention to the fact that unless "all signs fail" Uncle Sam is going to harvest the banner wheat crop in the history of the nation this season.

Statisticians estimate, and the basis for their estimates can scarcely be changed now that the people of this nation will put into their graneries this year nine hundred million bushels of wheat.

The average American, in his usual haste to pass on to something else of interest and surfeited with wonders, is not inclined to pause long enough to consider what these figures mean unless attention is particularly directed to them and their significance pointed out.

While mention has been made many times and in many places of the bright promise of a bumper wheat crop, the subject is one which contains so much of promise for business and for the people that repeated mention may be indulged in with better grace than some of the less pleasant subjects.

These figures mean, so some of the men who are employed to gather data and make estimates, tell us, that after the one hundred and eighty million bushels necessary to be saved for seed, is laid away and as much more fed to live stock there will be enough wheat left to provide two loaves of bread a day for every human being in the United States.

That's encouraging isn't it?

The average American is content to stop with that estimate without delving further into the statistics of the future and figuring out how we must increase production in order to meet the demands of an increasing population.

Of course it is possible for the pessimist to cast a shadow even on this bright picture by drawing on the future and his imagination for possible happenings and possible conditions.

What these bumper crop figures mean of good to business can scarcely be over-estimated. And while the nation at large is enjoying this prospect it is well to note that Fayette county is right in the swim with her big share of this bumper crop.

The American people and Fayette countians are entitled to enjoy the prospects of the immediate future and to act accordingly.

These figures are present facts and need not be reduced by other figures of future needs.

Poetry For Today

MIDSUMMER DAY'S DREAM.

When the sun gets around in the afternoon
And pierces the window shade with light,
I think me then of the wiles of June
Where the railroad fishing books invite.

Mine eyes recall the full-page plates
In which no hint of bliss is lost,
And thither my fancy emigrates
Without once thinking of the cost.

It is as if some fairy came
To bear me thither in a trance,
And Fortune, that most gracious dame,
Waived every earthly circumstance

Mine ears can hear the rumbling song
Of waters flowing down a hill,
And fancy blithely runs along
Without once thinking of the bill.

Ye misers with the wealth of earth,
What joy have ye that rivals this?
What grim possession that is worth
This brief imaginative bliss?

When the sun gets around in the afternoon,
And pierces the window shade with light,
I think me then of the wiles of June
Where the railroad fishing books invite.

The Fly's Stabilizers.

"On either side of the waist line of a fly is a stabilizer," says Dr. Bellesme, a famous entomologist. "This looks something like a base drum stick. These are extremely small, not more than one-fifteenth as long as the fly's wings, and while in flight they may be moved about, much as a tight rope walker uses a long pole for balancing himself.

"In experimenting with flies these little stabilizers have been removed. When released the fly begins his flight but without these stabilizers he describes a sort of semicircle and invariably lands on his back.

"Wasps and bees keep their balance while in flight by shifting the center of inflection of the abdomen and legs."—Exchange.

Would Have Made No Difference.

Sir Edward Cook in his "Life of Florence Nightingale" tells a story of a wounded soldier who picked up another wounded soldier and stumbled back into camp with him.

The rescued man turned out to be a general, no less, and when he went to see his rescuer in hospital the latter exclaimed:

"I'm glad I didn't know it was your honor. But if I'd known it was you I'd have saved you all the same!"

LASTING ROADS ARE IMPOSSIBLE

(Contributed.)

In the construction of road building one important and salient point is too often lost sight of. There is no such thing as a permanent type of pavement. The only permanent road is one of earth and this of course is subject to the variations of weather. If an earth road could be in a climate constantly dry and kept in good repair it would be the ideal thoroughfare. But this is impossible, and, therefore, it becomes necessary to cover its surface with different kinds of material, paving and otherwise. These various kinds of materials are suited to different soils. To say that any one material would meet a universal demand or that any one material will prove permanent in its use, is preposterous, although the manufacturers of some types would endeavor to give out this belief. Because of this, the authorities who are charged with the selection of a proper material for the paving of roads under their supervision, should not be misled by specious statements, but carefully consider the conditions surrounding the work to be done, and select that type of construction which will most fully meet their needs. This will vary in different places, but it can be taken as granted that no paving material will be found suitable to all localities.

What is needed in regard to road building is a broad and comprehensive policy, subservient to no special interests. This is the consensus of those who have had the widest experience and are the most familiar in a practical way with this important subject, who so deeply affects every class of citizenship. Many manufacturers of automobiles, and perhaps more particularly the manufacturers of automobile trucks, through their representatives, both direct and indirect, can be charged, with good cause, as having created a menace to this necessary broad and comprehensive policy—a policy which should be adopted not only by the nation, but by every state, county, township and municipality.

It is a truth that facts and figures regarding the proper policy for highway improvement seem to be distasteful to those who have special interests to conserve, and in this lies a very serious obstruction to the carrying out of a general plan of construction work. Instead of looking at the question from the broad standpoint of general good, it is regarded from the selfish view of individual benefit.

Articles prepared by eleventh hour and unqualified highway experts have been given wide publicity and the statements made, if allowed to go unchallenged, would mislead and misdirect public thought and opinion. The matter is far too important to permit this.

Hon. Logan Waller Page, director of the Bureau of Good Roads at Washington, D. C., as well as others no less well informed, and this is significant, are emphatic in their stand, that the improvement, repair and maintenance of the public highways, to obtain the best results, must be in accordance with traffic needs, soil conditions and local requirements. It is the opinion of all thoughtful students of the question, as shown in public statements, that any plan to promote a particular type of construction for general use should be denounced.

Articles which have been recently appearing in different publications, regarding road building, were not only vicious, but misleading. Some of the headlines were: "Grand Transformation In Highway Improvement," "Permanency In Highway Improvement," "Build Roads That Will Last," "Permanency Is Keynote In Modern Road-Building."

Under the last heading, in an article which appeared in the April issue of Better Roads and Streets, and in the Motorist (which is the official organ of the Ohio State Automobile association), by Iverson C. Wells, this preposterous statement was made, and it is an insult to any man's intelligence:

"Roads built of clay brick 500 years ago in Holland are still doing service today. Streets built with clay brick in London 300 years ago are still carrying the heavy traffic of the world's greatest metropolis. These are permanent roads."

In this article instances are cited where streets have been paved in this country by the use of brick for a wearing surface, that have stood for a quarter of a century, but no references whatever are made to the construction of other types that have withstood the traffic and that have been fully as economical, and perhaps more so, when the question of the cost of construction is considered.

The science of road building consists in the improvement, repair and maintenance of the greatest number of miles of public highways at the least possible cost.

A brick road 16 feet wide, properly constructed, will cost from $20,000 to $25,000 per mile, and the cost of maintenance and care, including interest maintenance at 5 per cent, and also including $500 to $750, which must be set aside annually for 20 years to resurface, will be from $1,500 to $2,100 per mile per year.

A concrete road will cost from $12,000 to $18,000 per mile. Interest maintenance is easily computed, but other maintenance costs are an unknown quantity. It is believed, however, that it will cost fully as much or more than a brick road.

A bituminous macadam road 16 feet wide, made by the penetration method, can be built for about $12,000 per mile, and can be maintained, including interest maintenance, for about $1,000 per mile per year.

A macadam road 16 feet wide with a carpet coat or bituminous cover, properly constructed, will cost about $8,000 per mile, and can be maintained, including interest maintenance, for about $650 per mile per year.

And proper maintenance of roads of the macadam type means continuous maintenance, and continuous maintenance means a better road from year to year.

Many miles of public highways should be improved, maintained and repaired by the use of gravel or by utilizing local material, such as clay and sand, and, by the proper shaping and crowning of the ordinary earth roads, where the soil conditions will permit, and such improvement should be continued as long as local requirements can be conserved.

A very potent factor in this movement looking towards a nation-wide system of good roads are users of automobiles and members of automobile associations. These almost without exception are opposed to the methods pursued by the automobile truck industries. This is because recognition is given to the humane and American idea that the public highways should be improved for the benefit of the many and not for the few. The good roads movement started prior to the advent of the automobile. The argument used in those days was that improved highways would enable the farmer to deliver his products to the local market at the minimum cost, and would enhance the value of farm lands, and promote a "back to the farm" movement, and good roads would be the chief factor in reducing the high cost of living. Therefore, the farmers of the state of Ohio should follow the example of the farmers of the state of New York, in demanding a kind and class of improvement suitable to their local requirements, and calculated to benefit them.

In all of the good roads movement it seems to have been forgotten that no class of people is more directly interested than the women who live on the farm. Because of the poor condition of many roads, they are compelled to pass an unwarranted share of their time at home, unable to either reach their friends, who may live in town, or to receive visits from these friends in the urban centers.

A very strong movement has been initiated by the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, in behalf of the good roads propaganda, and at a meeting to be held in Cleveland in May strong steps will be taken to urge upon the next session of the general assembly even more urgent legislation in behalf of road improvement than has heretofore been enacted.

The demands of the automobile truck manufacturers for the construction of roads of a type that are calculated to withstand the impact of a heavily laden automobile truck, with the wearing out qualities of an ordinary freight car, should not be considered, but, on the other hand, it is hoped that the next legislature will enact a law prohibiting the abuses of the public highways by the use of inordinate destructive forces of this character.

PROGRESS MADE AT CONFERENCE

First and Most Vital Part of Peace Plan Adopted.

AGREEMENT PUT INTO WRITING

Provides For Installation of Provisional Government in Mexico to Take the Place of General Huerta. Definitely Agreed Upon That Person Selected For Provisional Head Shall Be Acceptable to Dictator.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 13.—The first and the most vital part of the peace plan evoked by the mediators has been put into writing and definitely adopted by all sides. This was done at a full conference.

The first part of the plan provides for the installation of a provisional government in Mexico to take the place of General Huerta. The actual form of succession has been left open, but it has been definitely agreed upon by all sides that no candidate will be chosen who has not been approved by Huerta.

After a candidate believed to be acceptable has been agreed upon, the Mexican delegates will transmit his name to General Huerta, and not before the choice has been sanctioned by the provisional president will it be adopted at the conference.

Developments plainly showed that the administration is prepared even to completely abandon Carranza rather than to permit the mediation conference to fail.

The fact that the new plan, which has now been definitely adopted, provides for the selection of a candidate acceptable to Huerta, was definitely confirmed by one of those most prominently connected with the conference. It was explained that the choice of the man would not be left to the dictator. The selections will be made here at Niagara Falls, but no man will be chosen who is not believed to be acceptable to the present head of the Mexican government, General Huerta, it was explained, has practically agreed to abide by the decision of his delegates.

Those who are in a position to know declared that the form of succession would be in complete accord with the Mexican constitution.

At the next meeting of the conference, the names of possible candidates for the provisional presidency will be discussed for the first time. It is freely predicted here that if the administration continues to assist the mediators in their work the proceedings will be ended within a week.

cheer. Finally someone enlightened the worthy policeman, who turned crimson with mortification.

No one enjoyed the joke more than Alfonso. With a broad grin he held out his hand and shook the policeman warmly.

"Adios, Alguazil," he said, as he pressed his foot on his electric starter. In a few minutes the automobile was a speck on the San Sebastian road. Since then Policeman Pelourgeat is celebrated in Bayonne as "the man who arrested the King."

Remarkable Case.

Of thirty-three witnesses cited in a murder case which has just begun at Versailles, thirteen have died since the crime was committed thirteen years ago. The nineteen remaining will now be heard. The accused, Jean Louis Louis, had already been condemned to death by default, shortly after the murder, no trace of him being found at the time. He recently was arrested, having lived under an assumed name.

Smaller Coins.

The new nickel coinage to replace the cumbersome copper sou will make its appearance probably the latter part of this month. The authorities have been delayed in the minting as the existing plant had to be furnished with new machinery to handle the less malleable nickel.

WILSON PLEASED WITH NEW TURN

Washington, June 13.—Both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were in an optimistic frame of mind in regard to the Mexican situation. The note from Carranza signifying his intention to participate in the Niagara Falls conference and the clearing of the deadlock over the method of installing the new provisional government at Mexico City were regarded as highly encouraging developments by administration officials. There was, however, no certainty that Carranza would be admitted to the conference, although Mr. Bryan refused to believe that the action of the mediators would preclude the possibility of participation in the Niagara Falls conference by the Constitutionalists.

TROUBLE AHEAD OF EVADERS

Income Tax Fails to Provide
Revenue Expected From It.

Washington, June 13.—The income tax will fall by nearly $21,000,000 to provide the revenue expected from it by the framers of the new tariff law. The taxes on individual returns will be $24,000,000 less than the treasury department experts had estimated. The total assessments of individuals will be only $30,050,000, while the original estimate of revenue from the source was about $55,000,000. The government dragnet has therefore thus far caught only a little more than half what it had expected.

Government officials now realize that they are meeting with evasions which were predicted before the law was enacted. In fact the treasury department served notice of its intention to start after the "evaders."

Secretary McAdoo in a statement said: "The department is convinced that many liable to the income tax have failed to make returns and that many have made inaccurate returns. Active steps will be taken to discover all evasions of the law and a large additional amount of income tax will be collected from these delinquents."

Notwithstanding this deficit in the estimated return from the income tax, Secretary McAdoo states the treasury will end the present fiscal year of June 30 next with a surplus of about $30,000,000.

THIS KING WANTS AMERICAN HOME

By Associated Press.

Copenhagen, June 13.—King Christian has decided that the newest of his numerous residences shall be furnished in American style in every detail. He will not imitate the home of the American multi-millionaire. The style he has selected to copy is that of the simple and efficient equipment of the average American home. He has long been an admirer of the American arts and conveniences of home-making and he has insisted that his newest house, which is situated on the Skaw, will lack none of them.

The excuse for so many residences as King Christian has in so small a country as Denmark is his fondness of keeping in touch with his people, which, he maintains, he cannot do better than by living everywhere.

The king maintains an elaborate entourage, but it is only for the entertainment of visiting sovereigns and diplomats. As for himself he lives in the most simple manner. No ruler in Europe is more easily accessible.

Recently on a visit to Nakskov, the king was attracted by a delicious apple pie displayed in a shop window. He went inside to buy a piece, and while there bought some cake for a small boy in the shop. Later the shop woman learned the identity of her royal customer and she promptly hung out a sign announcing that her shop purveyed to the royal family of Denmark.

During the late motor show the king evinced keen interest in the display of American motor cars and when he bought 50 lottery tickets he expressed the hope that he would win an American car.

Peculiar State of Affairs.

The Danish policemen are threatening to strike because the new women police are started out at a greater salary than male novices.

The women police have been appointed to deal with delinquent and defective women and children and the new appointees are to receive $300 more a year than regular men police when they first enter the service.

If the strike should occur the police chief will probably use the new women police as strike breakers by putting them on the beats of the strikers.

EMPEROR MAY BE EMBALMED

By Associated Press.

London, June 13.—The mystery of Menelik, the Emperor of Abyssinia, whose death has been reported innumerable times, only to be denied, remains unsolved. W. Theisger, British Minister to Abyssinia, has reported that even in Adis Abeba, the capital of Abyssinia, the facts are still unknown. No one will admit that the Emperor is dead and outside the palace there is complete ignorance on the subject.

The diplomatic corps has been unable to get at the truth; all the ministers can say is that they have not seen Menelik for years. The general belief is that the Emperor's embalmed body lies in the innermost room of the Gebi.

The capital is, however, completely tranquil and it is believed that any danger to foreigners is past.

Mr. Theisger has just completed a three months march along the Abyssinian frontier of British East Africa to inquire into the wounding of two British officers by raiders. He was accompanied by an Abyssinian escort over a hundred miles of lava strewn plain where 38 camels had to be employed to carry water for the caravan. The party marched to Nairobi, a total distance of 1116 miles.

Treating for Cancer.

Out of nearly five hundred cases of malignant cancer treated by the Radium Institute during the year 1913, fifty are described in the annual report of the Institute as apparently cured and 183 as "improved." In a number of cases the results are not yet noted.

The Institute declines to treat operable cases, radium being used only as a last resort.

"To me only can show," the Lancet says, "if any of these satisfactory results are permanent, and not until some years have passed without fresh manifestations of the disease, could even the most favorable cases be described as cured."

WHAT IS DOING IN GERMANY

By Associated Press.

Berlin, June 13.—The Socialists and other liberal parties in the Prussian Diet are protesting against "the long unkept promise of the King."

More than six years ago the Emperor, as King of Prussia, declared it to be his desire that a modern franchise system be established in the state, to take the place of the existing three-class, non-secret ballot, which Bismark once termed "the most iniquitous system in the world." Since Chancellor von Buelow presented the King's desire to the Diet, only one attempt, and that wholly unsuccessful, has been made by the government to carry out the King's wishes. Minister von Loebell the new incumbent of the ministry of the interior now announces that he does not propose to present any measure this year for alternation of the voting system.

Underground Railroads.

Plans are under consideration for three new underground railway systems in Greater Berlin, at an estimated total cost of $60,000,000. One line, from the northeast to the southwest, touching at the Royal Opera House, probably will be built in the near future. The other two are not yet beyond the stage of preliminary consideration. One would start in the Grunewald, pass under the Brandenburg Gate and Unter den Linden, and then branch off to the southward. The other is a proposed extension of the existing Schoenberg Underground Railway both to the north and south. It would connect the southern suburbs directly with the main lines of the city.

New Locks Finished.

It is announced that the five years task of deepening and widening of the Baltic-North Sea Canal so as to accommodate the largest battleships will be practically completed by "Kiel Week," the latter part of this month.

The locks at the two ends, which do not raise the water level, but simply serve to prevent tidal currents, have been greatly enlarged and now exceed the dimensions of the Panama locks.

The new width of the canal is 333 feet, and its depth 36 feet. At four points the width will be such that the largest warships can easily turn around in it and reverse their course, thus enabling them to obey any sudden change of orders.

Paris, June 13.—Although the repeated rumors of a divorce between the deposed King Manuel of Portugal and his German princess lack confirmation, friends of the family in Paris declare that their affairs have reached an acute stage. Manuel and his wife have never understood each other, and in spite of praiseworthy efforts on the part of both to arrive at an honorable arrangement of their life, they have never succeeded in bridging the gulf which opened between them immediately after their marriage.

The English "Militants"

Not only is the number of women in merry old England who incline to militancy growing larger each day, but judging from the riotous conduct in which they engage and the acts of vandalism they commit, the disease from which they are suffering is becoming more acute.

The authorities of Great Britain, executive, legislative and judicial, from his Majesty King George on down through the whole long list, to village constable, are sorely troubled and at their wits end as to how to deal with the puzzling question which the women "furies" present.

Treasures of art are wantonly destroyed by the militant women. The king himself and high dignitaries of state and church are attacked and beaten and abused on every occasion. So common have the disturbances become that King George has abandoned his custom of going out unattended, so fearful is he of a scene with the "furies".

When brought into court and convicted of their crimes these women promptly go on a hunger strike and are released as the only means of saving their lives.

Never before in the history of any land or any people has a problem so difficult to deal with, confronted officials.

When Americans read of the outrages perpetrated by women in England for the purpose of furthering what they contend to be a righteous movement, they are, more than ever, justly proud of the good women of this land who are striving, but by far different and more effective means, to the attainment of the same end—equal suffrage—as are their English cousins.

It is only necessary to contrast the great gatherings of brainy women in this country, such as that one now in session at Chicago, with the anarchistic gatherings in England, to make Americans proud of their "women folks".

The course of the American women is winning converts to their cause every day, while the course of their English cousins is daily making the opposition stronger.

If they sought to demonstrate their incapacity to use authority, their actions could not be more effective for that purpose.

Bumper Crop Assurances

It is not out of the way to again call attention to the fact that unless "all signs fail" Uncle Sam is going to harvest the banner wheat crop in the history of the nation this season.

Statisticians estimate, and the basis for their estimates can scarcely be changed now that the people of this nation will put into their graneries this year nine hundred million bushels of wheat.

The average American, in his usual haste to pass on to something else of interest and surfeited with wonders, is not inclined to pause long enough to consider what these figures mean unless attention is particularly directed to them and their significance pointed out.

While mention has been made many times and in many places of the bright promise of a bumper wheat crop, the subject is one which contains so much of promise for business and for the people that repeated mention may be indulged in with better grace than some of the less pleasant subjects.

These figures mean, so some of the men who are employed to gather data and make estimates, tell us, that after the one hundred and eighty million bushels necessary to be saved for seed, is laid away and as much more fed to live stock there will be enough wheat left to provide two loaves of bread a day for every human being in the United States.

That's encouraging isn't it?

The average American is content to stop with that estimate without delving further into the statistics of the future and figuring out how we must increase production in order to meet the demands of an increasing population.

Of course it is possible for the pessimist to cast a shadow even on this bright picture by drawing on the future and his imagination for possible happenings and possible conditions.

What these bumper crop figures mean of good to business can scarcely be over-estimated. And while the nation at large is enjoying this prospect it is well to note that Fayette county is right in the swim with her big share of this bumper crop.

The American people and Fayette countians are entitled to enjoy the prospects of the immediate future and to act accordingly.

These figures are present facts and need not be reduced by other figures of future needs.

Poetry For Today

MIDSUMMER DAYS DREAM.

When the sun gets around in the afternoon
And pierces the window shade with light,
I think me then of the wiles of June
Where the railroad fishing books invite.

Mine eyes recall the full-page plates
In which no hint of bliss is lost,
And thither my fancy emigrates
Without once thinking of the cost.

It is as if some fairy came
To bear me thither in a trance,
And Fortune, that most gracious dame,
Waived every earthly circumstance

Mine ears can hear the rumbling song
Of waters flowing down a hill,
And fancy blithely runs along
Without once thinking of the bill.

Ye misers with the wealth of earth,
What joy have ye that rivals this?
What grim possession that is worth
This brief imaginative bliss?

When the sun gets around in the afternoon
And pierces the window shade with light,
I think me then of the wiles of June
Where the railroad fishing books invite.

The Fly's Stabilizers.

"On either side of the waist line of a fly is a stabilizer," says Dr. Bellesme, a famous entomologist. "This looks something like a base drum stick. These are extremely small, not more than one-fifteenth as long as the fly's wings, and while in flight they may be moved about, much as a tight rope walker uses a long pole for balancing himself.

"In experimenting with flies these little stabilizers have been removed. When released the fly begins his flight but without these stabilizers he describes a sort of semicircle and invariably lands on his back.

"Wasps and bees keep their balance while in flight by shifting the center of inflection of the abdomen and legs."—Exchange.

LASTING ROADS ARE IMPOSSIBLE

(Contributed.)

In the construction of road building one important and salient point is too often lost sight of. There is no such thing as a permanent type of pavement. The only permanent road is one of earth and this of course is subject to the variations of weather. If an earth road could be in a climate constantly dry and kept in good repair it would be the ideal thoroughfare. But this is impossible, and, therefore, it becomes necessary to cover its surface with different kinds of material, paving and otherwise.

These various kinds of materials are suited to different soils. To say that any one material would meet a universal demand or that any one material will prove permanent in its use, is preposterous, although the manufacturers of some types would endeavor to give out this belief. Because of this, the authorities who are charged with the selection of a proper material for the paving of roads under their supervision, should not be misled by specious statements, but carefully consider the conditions surrounding the work to be done, and select that type of construction which will most fully meet their needs. This will vary in different places, but it can be taken as granted that no paving material will be found suitable to all localities.

What is needed in regard to road building is a broad and comprehensive policy, subservient to no special interests. This is the consensus of those who have had the widest experience and are the most familiar in a practical way with this important subject, which so deeply affects every class of citizenship. Many manufacturers of automobiles, and perhaps more particularly the manufacturers of automobile trucks, through their representatives, both direct and indirect, can be charged, with good cause, as having created a menace to this necessary broad and comprehensive policy—a policy which should be adopted not only by the nation, but by every state, county, township and municipality.

It is a truth that facts and figures regarding the proper policy for highway improvement seem to be distasteful to those who have special interests to conserve, and in this lies a very serious obstruction to the carrying out of a general plan of construction work. Instead of looking at the question from the broad standpoint of general good, it is regarded from the selfish view of individual benefit.

Articles prepared by eleventh hour and unqualified highway experts have been given wide publicity and the statements made, if allowed to go unchallenged, would mislead and misdirect public thought and opinion. The matter is far too important to permit this.

Hon. Logan Waller Page, director of the Bureau of Good Roads at Washington, D. C., as well as others no less well informed, and this is significant, are emphatic in their stand, that the improvement, repair and maintenance of the public highways, to obtain the best results, must be in accordance with traffic needs, soil conditions and local requirements. It is the opinion of all thoughtful students of the question, as shown in public statements, that any plan to promote a particular type of construction for general use should be denounced.

Articles which have been recently appearing in different publications, regarding road building, were not only vicious, but misleading. Some of the headlines were: "Grand Transformation In Highway Improvement," "Permanency In Highway Improvement," "Build Roads That Will Last," "Permanency Is Keynote In Modern Road-Building."

Under the last heading, in an article which appeared in the April issue of Better Roads and Streets, and in the Motorist (which is the official organ of the Ohio State Automobile association), by Iverson C. Wells, this preposterous statement was made, and it is an insult to any man's intelligence:

"Roads built of clay brick 500 years ago in Holland are still doing service today. Streets built with clay brick in London 300 years ago are still carrying the heavy traffic of the world's greatest metropolis. These are permanent roads."

In this article instances are cited where streets have been paved in this country by the use of brick for a wearing surface, that have stood for a quarter of a century, but no references whatever are made to the construction of other types that have withstood the traffic and that have been fully as economical, and perhaps more so, when the question of the cost of construction is considered.

The science of road building consists in the improvement, repair and maintenance of the greatest number of miles of public highways at the least possible cost.

A brick road 16 feet wide, properly constructed, will cost from $20,000 to $25,000 per mile, and the cost of maintenance and care, including interest maintenance at 5 per cent, and also including $500 to $750, which must be set aside annually for 20 years to re-surface, will be from $1,500 to $2,100 per mile per year.

A concrete road will cost from $12,000 to $18,000 per mile. Interest maintenance is easily computed, but other maintenance costs are an unknown quantity. It is believed, however, that it will cost fully as much or more than a brick road.

A bituminous macadam road 16 feet wide, made by the penetration method, can be built for about $12,000 per mile, and can be maintained, including interest maintenance, for about $1,000 per mile per year.

A macadam road 16 feet wide with a carpet coat or bituminous cover, properly constructed, will cost about $8,000 per mile, and can be maintained, including interest maintenance, for about $650 per mile per year.

And proper maintenance of roads of the macadam type means continuous maintenance, and continuous maintenance means a better road from year to year.

Many miles of public highways should be improved, maintained and repaired by the use of gravel or by utilizing local material, such as clay and sand, and, by the proper shaping and crowning of the ordinary earth roads, where the soil conditions will permit, and such improvement should be continued as long as local requirements can be conserved.

A very potent factor in this movement looking towards a nation-wide system of good roads are users of automobiles and members of automobile associations. These almost without exception are opposed to the methods pursued by the automobile truck industries. This is because recognition is given to the humane and American idea that the public highways should be improved for the benefit of the many and not for the few. The good roads movement started prior to the advent of the automobile. The argument used in those days was that improved highways would enable the farmer to deliver his products to the local market at the minimum cost, and would enhance the value of farm lands, and promote a "back to the farm" movement, and good roads would be the chief factor in reducing the high cost of living. Therefore, the farmers of the state of Ohio should follow the example of the farmers of the state of New York, in demanding a kind and class of improvement suitable to their local requirements, and calculated to benefit them.

In all of the good roads movement it seems to have been forgotten that no class of people is more directly interested than the women who live on the farm. Because of the poor condition of many roads, they are compelled to pass an unwarranted share of their time at home, unable to either reach their friends, who may live in town, or to receive visits from these friends in the urban centers.

A very strong movement has been initiated by the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, in behalf of the good roads propaganda, and at a meeting to be held in Cleveland in May strong steps will be taken to urge upon the next session of the general assembly even more urgent legislation in behalf of road improvement than has heretofore been enacted.

The demands of the automobile truck manufacturers for the construction of roads of a type that are calculated to withstand the impact of a heavily laden automobile truck, with the wearing out qualities of an ordinary freight car, should not be considered, but, on the other hand, it is hoped that the next legislature will enact a law prohibiting the abuses of the public highways by the use of inordinate destructive forces of this character.

HOW WHEELS OF PROGRESS FIGURED IN THE CAMPAIGN

Telephones and Automobiles Made It Possible for the Workers to Get in Touch With Men Who Materially Aided in Closing up Memorable Campaign for $25,000.

That the mechanical progress and perfection of the present age are responsible for the seemingly stupendous tasks that are accomplished daily by the modern man, the fact, like many others, is never fully realized until it is brought home—until, in other words, some remarkable undertaking is successfully completed, in the community in which we live and mingle, and that same success can be traced directly, either in whole or in part, to the aid of the machine.

And the fact was brought home—right here in Washington C. H.—during the notable Y. M. C. A. campaign just finished. It is perfectly safe to state that had it not been for the aid of telephones, automobiles and at least a dozen other products of the brain of modern, or near-modern inventors, this successful crusade would have failed.

It is interesting to note, in connection and in proof of the statement, that half, or perhaps more, of the $25,000 raised, was accomplished by workers who had the advantage of automobiles. They were able to cover more territory; they were able to approach their prospects with more assurance and lastly, they were able during the last few hours, when time was more precious than jewels, to make quick calls at long distance on prospects whose financial aid meant the success of the campaign. One instance in connection is demonstrated by the fact that a party under Captain William McClain made a hurry-up trip, via auto, to the home of Mr. Harry Pugsley, several miles from the city, in a little over a half hour, and in that time had a pleasant chat with the donor, secured his check for $500 and returned to the city. The party departed on the trip at a few minutes before 9 o'clock Thursday evening and had their report in at the Y. M. C. A. together with the money at 9:30 o'clock.

By the aid of the telephone an amount greater than is generally realized was secured during the fight for funds. At 11:30 o'clock of the closing night, a time when subscriptions were coming slowly and the prospect of success had assumed a dark blue shade, some of the workers got busy on the telephones and raised several hundred dollars in a few minutes—enough to start the ball rolling again. One of these contributions by telephone was that of Mr. Nathan Creamer, of near Jeffersonville, who had given liberally before, and who at this critical time phoned an additional donation of $250.

And these are but two of many instances.

NEW Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY MAY BE CHOSEN TONIGHT

Educational Secretary, Walter Patton, of Springfield Y. M. C. A., May be Man Selected to Fill Vacancy Caused by Resignation of General Secretary Ray F. Zaner.

A meeting, the result of which will be awaited with general public interest, will be held tonight by the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of determining if possible on a successor to the position of secretary of the association to be made vacant June 15, by the resignation of Mr. Ray F. Zaner.

Although several men are being considered for the position, it is thought probable by those informed in Y. M. C. A. circles, that the choice of the board will be Mr. Walter Patton, of Springfield, O., who will be present at the meeting.

Mr. Patton is an able man, and while not generally known in Washington C. H., personally, he is known to association men by the work he has accomplished in the interest of that organization elsewhere. For the past several years Mr. Patton has been affiliated with the Springfield association as secretary of the Educational department, and during that time has made an enviable reputation. He will be remembered by the young men here as the man who coached the champion Springfield high school football team of 1913.

The meeting of the board is to be held at 7:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A.

AERONAUT GILL FALLS TO DEATH

John O. Gill, Mt. Sterling aeronaut who has thrilled many Fayette county crowds by his daring ascensions and parachute drops, met instant death at Richmond, Ind., late Thursday evening, when the third parachute used in making the drop to earth, refused to work and he fell more than 500 feet, practically every bone in his body being crushed by the terrific impact when he struck the earth.

The daring aeronaut's fall was witnessed by several thousand people. He cut loose from the balloon at a height of more than 2000 feet, and then cut loose each parachute in rapid succession, but the lower parachute failed to open, and he fell like a rocket.

Walter Gill, a brother, went to Richmond, Friday morning, and returned to Mt. Sterling with the remains Saturday, passing through this city.

Gill was 27 years of age and is survived by a widow.

He is the man who has been making balloon ascensions and parachute drops at various picnics in this county for several years past, and only last summer nearly met death at New Holland when the heavy gas bag fell, nearly striking his parachute while he was at an enormous height.

17TH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

Brilliant Program Rendered at Stinson Conservatory of Music Last Night, When Miss Ida Cook Receives Diploma—Many Music Lovers Enjoy the Program.

Conservatory hall was filled with an interested audience Friday evening, when the seventeenth annual commencement of Stinson Conservatory passed off successfully, with the beauty of floral adornment and all the attractions of the June graduation adding to the pleasure of the evening.

A brilliant program of piano and vocal music, interspersed with readings, was presented, and the graduate, Miss Ida Cook, daughter of Mr. John Cook, of near New Holland, the center of interest.

Mrs. Eldora Stinson, president of the Conservatory, and Miss Golda Ryan, of the faculty, and recognized as one of the most capable pupils ever receiving commencement honors from the Conservatory, opened and closed the program with concert numbers that gave opportunity for fine ensemble work.

The opening number was "Concert Paraphrase", Schubert-Tausig, and the closing Liszt's "Fantasia".

Miss Cook's graduation program was one ambitious and difficult in the extreme and showed to splendid advantage the capability of the gifted young graduate. She excels in octave work and brilliancy of execution. Her program was as versatile as it was difficult. Two marked numbers were Chopin's "Revolutionary Etude" which is only attempted by artists, and in which Miss Cook did fine work and Beethoven's Concerto Op. 15, its credenzas making heavy demands in technique. "The Erl King", Schubert-Tausig, was also a most difficult number and "Murmuring Zephyrs", Jensen, gave opportunity for totally different style in its interpretation.

Mrs. Stinson presented the diploma to the white robed young graduate with warm words of congratulation, and commendation of the hard work which was proven in the evening's numbers.

Mrs. F. G. Carpenter, of the faculty, departed from her usual method of interpretations and gave two musical readings, one a bit of sparkling comedy, the other a classic, highly dramatic. Miss Roxie Stinson accompanied the readings perfectly, both numbers most effective. Miss Lois Hankins, of Sedalia, delighted the audience with one of the new monologues by Mary Moncre Park-er.

Miss Stinson contributed two charming songs, (a) "Rose in the Bud", Forster; (b) "In Autumn", Franz, to the program. Mrs. Stinson and Miss Ryan were the evening's accompanists.

Rev. A. E. Harper gave the invocation and Rev. F. E. Ross the benediction.

The Buck florists had the decorating in charge, using palms and shell pink carnations in graceful arrangement.

Acting as ushers in white gowns were the conservatory juniors.

Origin of the Word "Mustard." Our English word "mustard" is traceable to the French "moutarde," the origin of which is curiously given. In 1382 Philip the Bold, duke of Burgundy, granted to the town of Dijon the privilege of bearing his armorial ensigns, with the motto "Moult me tarde" ("I wish ardently"), in return for a handsome contingent of a thousand men furnished to him at its expense. Pleased with the royal condescension, the authorities ordered the device to be affixed over the principal gates of the city. Time or accident at length obliterated the middle word, and the two remaining, moult tarde, were printed on the labels which the merchants of Dijon pasted on pots in which they sent this commodity all over the world.

FLY TRAPS OUT FLIES ARE SCARCE

The Board of Health has placed some three dozen improved fly traps at various points in the city, in order to eliminate, as far as possible, the fly nuisance.

The traps are better than those formerly used in the city, and it is the hope of the Board of Health that the flyless condition of the city will continue, as it has during the past few years.

Since Washington has inaugurated the method of eliminating the house fly, other cities throughout the state are following example, and find that municipal fly traps are a pretty good solution to the fly problem.

HITS COMPETITION OF UNFAIR NATURE

Amendment Adopted to the Trade Commission Bill.

BOARD GIVEN BROAD POWERS

Will Have Authority to Issue Orders Restraining and Prohibiting Any Unfair Method of Competition in the World of Commerce—Amendment by Senator Gore Aimed at Companies Piping Gas or Oil.

Washington, June 13.—The senate interstate commerce committee adopted the amendment to the interstate trade commission bill giving the commission broad powers in restraining industrial corporations from indulging in "unfair competition."

The authority thus proposed to be conveyed to the trade commission is not quite as extensive as that exercised by the interstate commerce commission in regulating railroads, but is broad enough nevertheless to cause some apprehension on the part of the conservatives. The amendment adopted provides:

"Whenever the commission shall have reason to believe that any corporation has been or is using any unfair method of competition in commerce it shall issue and serve upon such corporation a written order at least thirty days in advance of the time set therein for hearing, directing it to appear before the commission and show cause why an order shall not be issued by the commission restraining and prohibiting it from using such method of competition; and if upon such hearing the commission shall find that the method of competition in question is prohibited by this act, it shall thereupon issue an order restraining and prohibiting the use of the same. The commission may at any time modify or set aside in whole or in part any order issued by it under this act.

"Whenever the commission shall find that such corporation has not complied therewith the commission may petition the district court of the United States within the district where the method in question was used or where such corporation is located or carries on business praying the court to issue an injunction to enforce such order of the commission and the court is hereby authorized to issue such injunction."

Another amendment adopted by the committee empowers the commission to make inquiries into trade conditions at home and abroad.

An amendment offered by Senator Gore specially making unlawful the alleged unfair practices of companies that pipe gas or oil, is likely to be adopted.

ITALIAN ADMITS KILLING FRIEND

Somerville, N. J., June 13.—Seven-year-old Stefano Ruggieri, in his cell in murderers' row in the Somerset county jail, where three of his fellow countrymen are also confined for three murders committed in the past three weeks, confessed to the authorities that he fired the shot which killed Jacoma Folzaro and tore out the eyes of Loringe Dagnasto at Millington on May 17. He said he had killed the wrong man, as he had intended to murder Dagnasto, who had got him out of a job. The shot which he had fired into a group went wild, killing Folzaro, who was his friend.

ENORMOUS LOSS

Washington, June 13.—A battle is again raging at Mazatlan. The heavy infantry fire from the opposing armies has been supplemented by artillery fire, which is causing an enormous death toll and much damage to property.

The situation in regard to the food and water supply is becoming more serious. No steps have been taken to relieve the inhabitants and noncombatants are unable to leave the city to procure food on account of the fighting going on continuously.

VILLAGE WRECKED

Marion, O., June 13.—Laying waste a swath almost a mile wide and two and one-half miles long, a cyclone struck the village of Marselles, doing damage estimated at $200,000 and fatally injuring Samuel Althought, forty, who was in his garage when it was wrecked by the wind. Nearly every house in the village was damaged.

WOMAN AVIATOR

Dayton, O., June 13.—Mrs. Ritzberg Hornsby of Chicago qualified at the Wright aviation ground here as an air pilot. She is the third American woman and the sixth in the world to obtain pilot honors.

SHARP GETS PARIS POST

Washington, June 13.—President Wilson nominated Representative William Sharp of Elyria, O., to be ambassador to France. Mr. Sharp will succeed Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, who was appointed by President Taft.

The president's action in sending the nomination of Mr. Sharp to the senate disclosed definitely for the first time that National Chairman William McCombs had decided not to accept the ambassadorship. The post was tendered Mr. McCombs the first week of President Wilson's administration. Another report which was disposed of by the action of the president was that Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo was to be named ambassador to France as a means to relieve the president of any embarrassment that might ensue from having his son-in-law in the cabinet.

Mr. Sharp is a retired manufacturer of iron and chemicals and has the necessary wealth to meet the heavy expenses in the life of an ambassador at Paris.

EXPECT ACTION

Authorities Probing Affairs of La Salle Street Bank.

CLOSED FOLLOWING MILD RUN

Three Associated Banks in Chicago Forced to Suspend Pending Investigation — Institutions Involved Are Known as the Lorimer-Munday Chain—Combined Deposit Liabilities Aggregate About $8,000,000.

Chicago, June 13.—Action in the courts is expected to follow the closing of examiners of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, of which ex-United States Senator Lorimer is president, and three associated banks. Chief Bank Examiner Harkins and a score of assistants are busily engaged in trying to unravel the financial tangle which resulted in a run on the La Salle Street bank. Mr. Harkins said it would be several days before the actual state of affairs is known. In round figures the combined deposit liabilities aggregate between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000. The La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank is a state institution, located in the heart of the downtown district. It was established originally as a national bank by ex-Senator Lorimer. Neither it nor its predecessor has ever been a member of the clearing house.

An examination of the La Salle bank by Examiner Harkins two months ago disclosed, he said, a quantity of what he regarded as slow assets. The bank officials are said by state officials to have pleaded for a little time in which to change that condition.

In the last three weeks, according to Examiner Harkins and the cashier of the bank, there has been what was termed a mild run on the bank, causing a depletion of about $1,000,000 of deposits.

Former United States Senator Lorimer, president, and C. B. Munday, vice president, refused to comment on the situation.

Rumors are current that a receivership will be asked and that politics is involved in the case.

The four banks closed are the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, the Broadway State bank, the Illinois State bank and the Ashland-Twelfth State bank, known as the Lorimer-Munday chain of banks.

AIR PILOTS IN DANGER

Portland, Ore., June 13.—A terrific electrical storm, overtaking the four balloons which started from here Thursday in the first national balloon race, has driven two of them to earth, and the gravest fears are entertained for the safety of the other two. A message brought by carrier pigeon indicates that Captain John Berry, piloting a St. Louis balloon, is seriously injured, but the location of the balloon is not known.

RUSHING FOOD

Cleveland, O., June 13.—The wholesale grocers and commission men have responded to an appeal to rush canned goods and foodstuffs to Vera Cruz for Americans.

JEROME STILL PURSUES THAW

Washington, June 13.—William T. Jerome filed a brief in the supreme court for the state of New York opposing the application of Harry K. Thaw for release under bail, pending hearing of habeas corpus appeal. Jerome abandoned a plan to have Thaw withdraw his application and to permit the slayer of Stanford White to go to Pittsburgh with a United States deputy marshal.

STORK'S VISIT

Findlay, O., June 13.—Former Congressman Ralph D. Cole, who is now a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, made a hurried run from Columbus to Findlay on receipt of information that he is the father of a ten-pound boy. The mother is doing well. Mr. and Mrs. Cole have been married seven years.

FIRE THREATENS

Delaware, O., June 13.—The Delaware fire department was called to Kilbourne, a town six miles north of this city, to aid in fighting a fire which threatened the village. A shift in the wind confined the blaze to several barns.

BATHER DROWNS

Zanesville, O., June 13.—Jack Reichen, who was graduated from the local high school, was drowned while bathing in the Muskingum river.

ATTACKS LEADERS

Redmond Declares War On the Provisional Committee.

London, June 13.—John Redmond, the Irish nationalist leader, declared war on the provisional committee of the Nationalist Volunteers, a majority of whom, he asserts, are not supporters of the Irish party.

Although the provisional committee at a meeting held in Dublin June 10 verbally welcomed Mr. Redmond's co-operation in the Irish volunteer movement, it followed this up with a call to the volunteers in each county to elect a representative to serve on the committee, and this action the Irish leader interprets as a refusal of the committee to accept his proposal, made June 9, that 25 representatives of the Irish party should be added to the committee in control.

A meeting of the Irish nationalists discussed the matter in the house of commons, and subsequently Mr. Redmond issued a letter declaring that the action of the committee "amounts to a refusal to accept my offer of co-operation."

Declaring that the rank and file and the responsible leaders of the Irish people are entitled to demand some guarantee that an attempt shall not be made in the name of the Irish Volunteers to dictate the policy of the National party, Mr. Redmond finds the best guarantee of this to be the presence on the governing body of men of proved judgment and steadiness, as suggested by him. He regrets that the committee "should so hastily have repudiated" his suggestion.

SCHOOLS IN ARABIA.

Pupils Sit Swaying on the Floor as They All Study Aloud.

In the schools of Arabia the children, with the schoolmaster, sit upon the floor or the ground in a semicircle, and each has a tablet of wood which is painted white and upon which the lessons are written. When the latter are learned they are washed out and replaced by other lessons.

During study hours the Arab schools remind one of the Chinese, for the children all study aloud, and as they chant they rock back and forth like trees in a storm, and this movement is continued for an hour or more at a time. The schoolmaster rocks back and forth also, and altogether the school presents a most novel appearance as well as sound. Worshipers in the mosques always move about while reciting the Koran, as this movement is believed to assist the memory.

The desks of the Arab schools are odd contrivances of palm sticks, upon which is placed the Koran or one of the thirty sections of it. After learning the alphabet the boys take up the study of the Koran, memorizing entire chapters of it until the sacred book is entirely familiar.

A peculiar method is followed in learning the Koran. The study begins with the opening chapter, and from this it skips to the last. The last but one is then learned, then the last but two, and so on in inverted order, ending finally with the second chapter.

A Few Casual Inquiries.

"Now, don't talk too much when you go to call on your neighbor. You may answer questions, of course."

"That is all I ever do," said the child. "And they ask a great many questions. Last time they asked how much salary papa got and if he ever quarreled with you."—Kansas City Journal.

RESOLUTE A GOOD BOAT

Again Defeats the Vanitie Over a Thirty-Mile Triangular Course. New York, June 13.—The Resolute again showed what a sterling good yacht she is by defeating the Vanitie over a thirty-mile triangular course off Sandy Hook. She drew away from the Vanitie from the start and, what was surprising, lost only twenty-two seconds on the second leg, which was a broad reach. The Vanitie gained fifty-eight seconds on the last leg, but part of that gain was due to her sailing in a better wind than the Resolute. The actual difference between the two yachts at the finish was two minutes and forty-six seconds.

HANS WAGNER, GREATEST BALL PLAYER IN THE GAME TODAY

Roger Bresnahan, Cub catcher and former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, says he considers Hans Wagner to be the greatest ball player in the game. He cites Wagner's steadiness, his wonderful batting record, fielding and base running ability, and the fact that he has kept this place for seventeen years. Wagner broke into baseball with the Louisville club in 1897 and played every position in the infield before settling at short-stop.

HANS WAGNER

THE MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

Source of Unlimited Contributions to the Riches of Literature. He came timidly into the editor's office. "Pardon me, sir, but would you like an authoritative article on the immigration question?" "That isn't quite in our line." "How about feminism?" "Afraid we cannot use it." "Perhaps you would like to have Wall Street shown up in an imitatively witty and yet dignified and searching manner?" "Sorry, but it does not interest us." "Well, say a stirring article on Mexico, giving the inside facts." "Nothing on Mexico today." "Perhaps you would like a bunch of wonderful short stories?" "We are rather long on short stories." "Well, how about some poetical masterpieces? Anything from four cantos up. You know, they are quite fashionable now. Can let you have a metrical best seller in a couple of weeks." "I am afraid not. Is there anything you cannot furnish?" "Nothing, sir. Philosophy, history, poetry, burlesque—how about a series of snappy articles on health? Perhaps you would like to have your readers diet by a new system just invented. It makes no difference; there is nothing in the whole range of literature that I cannot supply you with. Here's my card. In case you want anything let me know." He got up to go. The editor smiled. "May I ask whether you run an agency or a syndicate?" "Neither, sir. I am only the proud father of a nineteen-year-old girl who has a talent for literature and has just been graduated from an American college."—Life.

His Foolish Fear. "Would you marry a man whose income was under $5,000 a year," he asked. "How much under?" she replied. "Well, quite a bit." "Is it between $3,000 and $5,000?" "I might put it that way." "Dearest! Why did you think I would let money stand in the way?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

His Thirst. Husband—May, just send up some filtered water. Wife—Which was it last night, "Detained at the office" or "A friend at the club?" Husband—Why? Wife—Because I didn't know whether you wanted a tumbler or a painful.—London Opinion.

Improving Slowly. "How is your cousin getting on, Jane?" "Nicely, thank you, ma'am, but he had an awful time. They performed three autopsies on him at the hospital before he began to get better."—Baltimore American.

Didn't Agree With Him. "You should never take anything that doesn't agree with you," the physician told him. "If I'd always followed that rule, Maria," he remarked to his wife, "where would you be?"—London Express.

PSYCHOLOGY OF POCKETS.

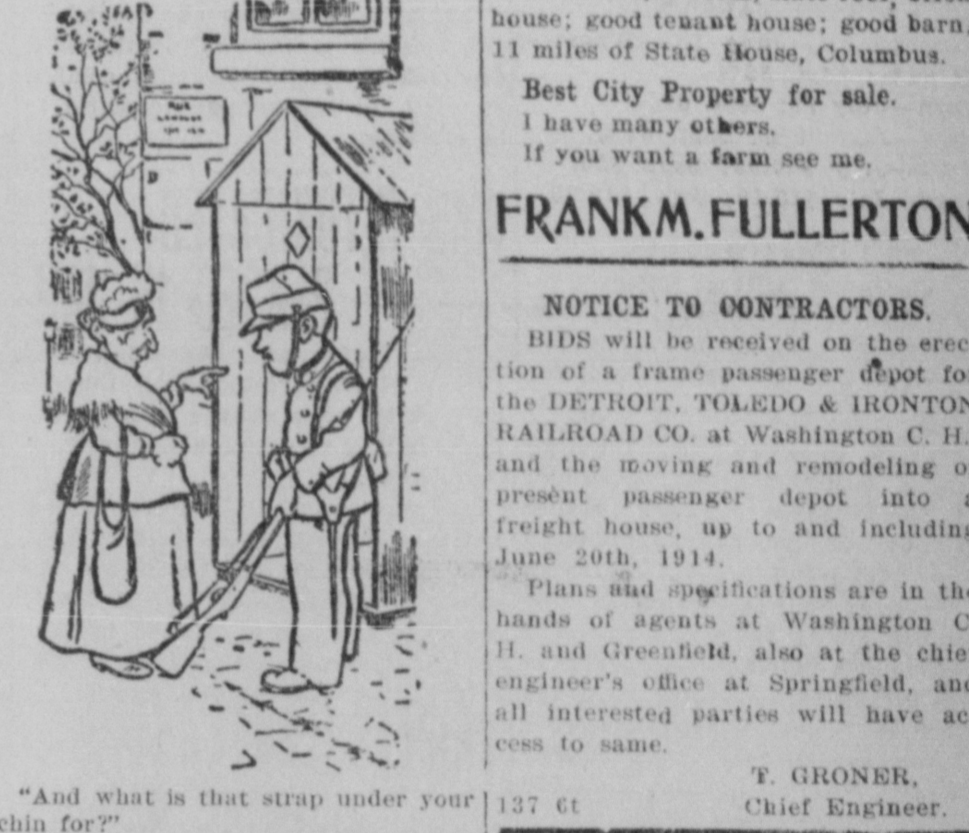

To prove how undeveloped is the growing urchin's mind. Turn out a small boy's pockets, and these treasures you will find: A top, six rusty shingle nails, a bank of dirty string. A snake (defunct), a railroad spike, a battered napkin ring. A broken file, a rubber ball, some bits of broken rock. And sundry scattered remnants of a shattered barn door lock.

To prove that lovely woman is deficient in the brain. Turn out her leather hand bag, which is likely to contain: A canceled transfer, thirty cents, some frazzled squares of silk. A fragment of a recipe for sterilizing milk. A pointless pencil, seven stamps, some powder and a puff. A shopping list, some scissors and a manicuring buff.

To prove that man's a creature of tremendous intellect. Go through his clothes some morning and you'll readily collect: A dry and useless fountain pen, a knife that will not cut. Some scribbled dates, a paper book entitled "How to Putt." Four keys to locks long gone to rust, five crumpled dollar bills. A box of sticky cough drops and six numbered billiard balls.

—Pittsburgh Post.

"And what is that strap under your chin for?" "That is a jaw strap, madam, to rest our jaws when we are tired out answering questions."—Le Sourire.

Pride. "I pride myself upon the fact that I never have gone home in a condition that made me fear to face my wife at the door." "What about that time when several of your friends had to carry you inside after they had lifted you from the back?" "Well, I wasn't afraid to meet my wife at the door or anywhere else."—Chicago Record-Herald.

STRANGE FIND OF PREHISTORIC MAN

A remarkable find was made Friday on the Seelig fruit farm, at Alum Cliffs, Ross county, where workmen were engaged in excavating gravel. In a space about thirty feet square they uncovered fourteen skeletons of men, women and children. The bodies were found in oblong rectangular pits, each skeleton laid out at full length. Some were small, indicating children, while others were unusually large. The men were probably more than six feet in height.

Alum Cliffs forms a hillside along Paint Creek, and it is a well-known fact that, like all other streams in Ohio, it flowed north before the ice sheet covered Ohio. The creek once flowed up what is now the valley of North Fork, but when the ice receded the water left by it, barred from the valley, cut its way through the southern barrier of hills, thus forming Paint creek gorge.

If examination shows that the deposit would tend to show that the stream cut through the Selig gravel deposit may have been pre-glacial.

KLEPTOMANIAC IS STILL PILFERING

The man who has a mania for stealing pillows from verandas, was busy again Friday night, with the result that one West Temple street resident reported three feather pillows missing, and the police are now working on a slight clew which may lead to the apprehension of the guilty parties.

Thursday night thieves removed four pillows from another W. Temple street veranda, and now the citizens in that part of town are removing such articles from their verandas when they close their house for the night.

A reward has been offered for the capture and conviction of the kleptomaniac, and the authorities promise to give the fellow the limit if they can lay hands upon him.

BOY BLOWS OFF HIS SISTER'S HEAD

Gladys Irene Tingley, 13, daughter of Oliver Tingley, of Madison county, was instantly killed, Friday, when her brother, Clyde, aged 9 years, pointed a shot gun at her and playfully pulled the trigger, not knowing the weapon was loaded.

The charge struck the girl in the head, almost completely tearing her head from her body. The children, with their mother, were in the kitchen at the time, while the father was at the barn a short distance away.

The shock nearly unbalanced the mother, while the boy who unwittingly committed the deed, is heartbroken.

BAPTISTS DEFEAT THE METHODISTS

The Baptists won their first game of the season Friday afternoon by defeating the fast Methodists by a score of 8 to 2 at Athletic park. The winners scored 5 runs in the first inning but from that time on the game was close and hard fought.

Friday's game was the second of the season's tournament in the Sunday School league and the coming contests for the pennant promise to be exciting.

WAS INTOXICATED PLACED IN JAIL

Chief Moore and Patrolman Bell Friday night arrested John Culbertson, white, on a charge of intoxication, finding the man near the B. & O. railroad.

He was placed in the county jail until he sobered up. It is claimed that the Sabina authorities are desirous of laying hands upon the man, claiming that he is wanted in that town for various offenses.

Thoughts Higher Up.

John Thompson was a good husband, but he possessed a weakness for constantly teasing his wife about dress. One day he found her sitting by the window.

"Watching the styles, Emmy?" he asked.

"Now, John, give me credit for having thoughts higher than dresses now and then," she answered.

"Then you must be thinking of a new hat," he retorted.—Lippincott's.

Certainly Not.

Patience—I see a patent has just been granted for an appliance to attach to a hammock to prevent a woman from falling out.

Patrice—But it will never take the place of a man's arm.—Yonkers Statesman.

Unpopular.

"I don't approve of a man who sits around in carpet slippers," exclaimed the energetic citizen.

"Nobody does," replied Miss Cayenne. "All the men have to wear dancing pumps."—Washington Star.

FEATS WITH THE CAMERA.

Difficult to Snap Fast Moving Objects at a Given Point.

Only an expert, and he only after much practice, can take a photograph of a rapidly moving object at a predetermined point—for example, an express train with the cowcatcher just at a white chalk mark on a tie or a baseball at the instant the bat strikes it.

The reason for this is twofold: First, there is a certain appreciable time between the mental decision to do a thing and the actual doing of it; second, it takes a certain appreciable time for the impulse given by pressing the button or squeezing the bulb of a camera to travel to the shutter and open it. The latter may in a very fine camera be only one-fiftieth of a second, but even the fiftieth of a second in a train going 100 feet a second would mean a difference of two feet.

C. H. Clardy in an article in the Camera says that not more than once in four attempts will even an expert catch the precise instant he is seeking. The average man snaps his camera at the moment the ball is striking the club or racquet, and by the time his shutter has worked the ball has gone. A tennis ball travels nearly a mile a minute when struck hard. That is ninety-six feet a second, so in a lag of one-tenth of a second between the pressing of the button and the opening of the shutter the ball will move nearly ten feet, and ordinary cameras work no faster than this. So one need not wonder if even experts fail.

When Seals Were Food.

The gray seal used to serve Cornishmen as an article of diet. Stephen Hawker tells how he and a brother clergyman, having asked a landlady at Boscawen what she could give them for dinner, were told "Meat and tates." They tried to get her to particularize the meat, but "Meat, nice, wholesome meat, and tates" was the full extent of her information. When the meat was served it tasted like seal, but was unaccompanied by any vestige of bone that might have enabled the diners to infer its origin. Years afterward Hawker lighted on the nature of the "meat" when he read in an old history of Cornwall that "the people of Boscawen do catch divers young soyles, which, doubtful if they be fish or flesh, conyunge housewives will nevertheless roast and do make thereof savory meat."—London Graphic.

How He Proposed.

"She" was working at a woolen article for a bazaar. "He" asked her what she was making.

"That is exactly what I want," he answered.

"Oh, I shall be most happy to make you one," she innocently rejoined. And she did!—Weekly Telegraph.

MEDIATORS PLAN ON SECOND PLANK

By Associated Press.

Niagara Falls, June 13.—In an informal conference today the American and Mexican delegates and the mediators discussed at length the second plank in the peace plan which will deal with the character of the new provisional government to succeed the present regime in Mexico.

Having definitely declared in the first protocol that a government shall be set up on a certain date to which recognition will be accorded, the attention of the mediators and delegates was directed to the composition of the new government. No final agreement was reached and other meetings will be necessary before the second protocol is perfected and signed. Names of persons suggested to compose the new government were considered but action was not taken as the principal objection of the conference was to settlement on the form of government.

Vera Cruz, June 13.—Anticipating the overthrow of the Huerta government and fearing its consequences for himself, General Lorenzo Mondragon, the elder son of Manuel Mondragon, who was President Huerta's first secretary of war, now in Paris, took refuge within the American lines here today.

WOULD FORCE RECOGNITION

By Associated Press.

New Orleans, June 13.—Shipping interests here have been warned by Arcadio Zentella, New Orleans commercial agent for the Constitutionalists, that all privileges and concessions granted them by the late President Madero, of Mexico, will be annulled unless the authority of the Constitutionalists over all Mexico is acknowledged within thirty days.

ANTILLA SHOULD NOT HAVE CLEARED

The Washington government, in effect, set forth regret that through a misunderstanding over jurisdiction between the Departments of Commerce and the Treasury, the clearance papers had been issued to the Antilla which it had been intended she should not have.

NOTHING HUERTA DOES SUITS REBS

By Associated Press.

Saltillo, Mexico, June 12.—via Laredo, June 13.—After the dispatch of General Carranza's note to the mediators at Niagara Falls it was said authoritatively today that the Constitutionalists do not wish even one of their own number to become provisional president in the mediation plans providing that taking such office can be construed in any manner as legalizing any of Huerta's acts.

SLAPS WILSON ON THE BACK

By Associated Press.

Princeton, N. J., June 13.—Greeted uproariously by a huge crowd of Princeton alumnae and undergraduates, yelling "locomotive", and singing old songs, President Wilson, Princeton '79, returned to his alma mater shortly after noon today for the annual alumnae celebration.

For the day, the president was "Tommy" to the eighty-five members of the class of '79, who returned for their thirty-fifth graduating anniversary and was just like any other old graduate to the Princeton people. He was slapped on the back, cheered, hurried about and in every way treated as little like a president of the United States as possible.

WOMEN NOT TO MAKE DEMAND FOR SUFFRAGE

By Associated Press.

Chicago, June 12.—Grace Wilbur Trout, one of the leaders in the woman suffrage campaign before the General Federation of Women's Clubs said here today that there would be practically no opposition to the endorsement of the principles of woman suffrage. She added, however, that no attempt would be made to have the federation adopt suffrage as a part of its propaganda.

In diplomatic circles here it is feared this action of the Greek government, at this time, when the tension between the nations is so great, may be regarded as especially provocative by Turkey and force a crisis.

You will notice that the eldest son of the crown prince is a Fourth of July boy. He is patriotically interested in American boys and wants to come here on his birthday some time. Crown Prince Frederick William, who was born in 1882, was married June 6, 1905.

5TH BANK IS CLOSED

By Associated Press.

Chicago, June 13.—A fifth state bank has been closed by the State Bank Examiner in connection with the disclosure of the condition of the LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank. This, the State Bank of Calumet, according to the examiner, completes the chain of what was known as the string of Lorimer-Munday banks in Chicago.

William Lorimer, president of the LaSalle Street bank, is said to be near physical collapse from the strain of the developments of the last twenty-four hours. Approximately four millions of dollars of deposits are tied up in the institutions. Scores of children were depositors in the State Bank of Calumet. They had organized a Christmas fund. Early today, bank books in hand, they crowded about the doors but could get no money.

PRETORIA RIPS UP HULL OF NEW YORK

By Associated Press.

On Board Steamship New York via Wireless to Siasconsett, Mass.—While the American liner, New York, west-bound, was motionless in a heavy fog four miles east of Ambrose lightship early today, the American-Hamburg liner, Pretoria, bound east, ran into her and ripped a hole 12 feet high and 32 feet long in her port side. The hole is flush with the main deck and is 15 feet above the water line.

So great was the force of the collision that the Pretoria's anchor was torn away and left hanging inside the gap that had been ripped in the New York.

Practically all of the passengers of both ships were asleep. Immediately after the collision the engines of both ships were ordered full speed astern and passengers came hurriedly to the decks. The passengers of the New York were able to reach over and touch the Pretoria as she pulled away from her dangerous position. There was no panic.

Captain Roberts and Chief Officer Turner were both on the bridge at the time of the collision. They assured the frantic passengers, many of whom had hurried to the starboard side of the ship anticipating a list to port, that there was no danger. Members of the crew went among the passengers and urged them to be calm.

Virginia, in effect July 1, has summoned all of the prosecuting attorneys, sheriffs, mayors and chiefs of police of the state to a conference to be held at Parkersburg, June 25. His purpose is to present to the conference plans for the universal enforcement of the new laws. Fully 500 officials are expected to attend.

FRENCH WILL BUILD ANEW

By Associated Press.

Paris, June 13.—Rene Vivian, the socialist deputy and former minister of labor, today again accepted the task of forming a new French cabinet. President Poincare called Vivian into consultation immediately after the defeat yesterday of the Ribot cabinet which had been in office since Wednesday night.

Rene Viviani this evening informed President Poincare that he had succeeded in forming the new cabinet.

ITALIAN LABOR SITUATION BAD

By Associated Press.

Rome, June 13.—Detachments of troops were ordered today to take charge of the railroad stations and tracks in Rome.

This action was in consequence of the strike threats of the employees to begin a general strike throughout Italy. No decision was reached by the railroad men who held a meeting here today to discuss the proposed strike. The more moderate clan of the workmen, which regards such a move as inopportune, succeeded in securing an adjournment of the session until late in the day.

Reports from the provinces, however, indicate that the cessation of work is general in some districts. The seriousness of the strike situation in Italy was indicated in a lengthy explanation given by Premier Salandra in the Chamber of Deputies today. He hinted that the government was preparing to suppress with a stern hand any revolutionary movement.

PROGRESS MADE AT CONFERENCE

First and Most Vital Part of Peace Plan Adopted.

AGREEMENT PUT INTO WRITING

Provides For Installation of Provisional Government in Mexico to Take the Place of General Huerta. Definitely Agreed Upon That Person Selected For Provisional Head Shall Be Acceptable to Dictator.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 13.—The first and most vital part of the peace plan evoked by the mediators has been put into writing and definitely adopted by all sides. This was done at a full conference.

The first part of the plan provides for the installation of a provisional government in Mexico to take the place of General Huerta. The actual form of succession has been left open, but it has been definitely agreed upon by all sides that no candidate will be chosen who has not been approved by Huerta.

After a candidate believed to be acceptable has been agreed upon, the Mexican delegates will transmit his name to General Huerta, and not before the choice has been sanctioned by the provisional president will it be adopted at the conference.

Developments plainly showed that the administration is prepared even to completely abandon Carranza rather than to permit the mediation conference to fail.

The fact that the new plan, which has now been definitely adopted, provides for the selection of a candidate acceptable to Huerta, was definitely confirmed by one of those most prominently connected with the conference. It was explained that the choice of the man would not be left to the dictator. The selections will be made here at Niagara Falls, but no man will be chosen who is not believed to be acceptable to the present head of the Mexican government. General Huerta, it was explained, has practically agreed to abide by the decision of his delegates.

Those who are in a position to know declared that the form of succession would be in complete accord with the Mexican constitution.

At the next meeting of the conference, the names of possible candidates for the provisional presidency will be discussed for the first time. It is freely predicted here that if the administration continues to assist the mediators in their work the proceedings will be ended within a week.

cheer. Finally someone enlightened the worthy policeman, who turned crimson with mortification.

No one enjoyed the joke more than Alfonso. With a broad grin he held out his hand and shook the policeman warmly.

"Adios, Alguazil," he said, as he pressed his foot on his electric starter. In a few minutes the automobile was a speck on the San Sebastian road. Since then Policeman Pelourgeat is celebrated in Bayonne as "the man who arrested the King."

Remarkable Case.

Of thirty-three witnesses cited in a murder case which has just begun at Versailles, thirteen have died since the crime was committed thirteen years ago. The nineteen remaining will now be heard. The accused, Jean Louis Louis, had already been condemned to death by default, shortly after the murder, no trace of him being found at the time. He recently was arrested, having lived under an assumed name.

Smaller Coins.

The new nickel coinage to replace the cumbersome copper sou will make its appearance probably the latter part of this month. The authorities have been delayed in the minting as the existing plant had to be furnished with new machinery to handle the less malleable nickel.

WILSON PLEASED WITH NEW TURN

Washington June 13.—Both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were in an optimistic frame of mind in regard to the Mexican situation. The note from Carranza signifying his intention to participate in the Niagara Falls conference and the clearing of the deadlock over the method of installing the new provisional government at Mexico City were regarded as highly encouraging developments by administration officials. There was, however, no certainty that Carranza would be admitted to the conference, although Mr. Bryan refused to believe that the action of the mediators would preclude the possibility of participation in the Niagara Falls conference by the Constitutionalists.

TROUBLE AHEAD OF EVADERS

Income Tax Fails to Provide Revenue Expected From It.

Washington, June 13.—The income tax will fall by nearly $21,000,000 to provide the revenue expected from it by the framers of the new tariff law. The taxes on individual returns will be $24,000,000 less than the treasury department experts had estimated. The total assessments of individuals will be only $30,050,000, while the original estimate of revenue from the source was about $55,000,000. The government dragnet has therefore thus far caught only a little more than half what it had expected.

Government officials now realize that they are meeting with evasions which were predicted before the law was enacted. In fact the treasury department served notice of its intention to start after the "evaders."

Secretary McAdoo in a statement said: "The department is convinced that many liable to the income tax have failed to make returns and that many have made inaccurate returns. Active steps will be taken to discover all evasions of the law and a large additional amount of income tax will be collected from these delinquents." Notwithstanding this deficit in the estimated return from the income tax, Secretary McAdoo states the treasury will end the present fiscal year of June 30 next with a surplus of about $30,000,000.

THIS KING WANTS AMERICAN HOME

By Associated Press.

Copenhagen, June 13.—King Christian has decided that the newest of his numerous residences shall be furnished in American style in every detail. He will not imitate the home of the American multi-millionaire. The style he has selected to copy is that of the simple and efficient equipment of the average American home. He has long been an admirer of the American arts and conveniences of home-making and he has insisted that his newest house, which is situated on the Skaw, will lack none of them.

The excuse for so many residences as King Christian has in so small a country as Denmark is his fondness of keeping in touch with his people, which, he maintains, he cannot do better than by living everywhere.

The king maintains an elaborate entourage, but it is only for the entertainment of visiting sovereigns and diplomats. As for himself he lives in the most simple manner. No ruler in Europe is more easily accessible.

Recently on a visit to Nakskov, the king was attracted by a delicious apple pie displayed in a shop window. He went inside to buy a piece and while there bought some cake for a small boy in the shop. Later the shop woman learned the identity of her royal customer and she promptly hung out a sign announcing that her shop purveyed to the royal family of Denmark.

During the late motor show the king evinced keen interest in the display of American motor cars and when he bought 50 lottery tickets he expressed the hope that he would win an American car.

Peculiar State of Affairs.

The Danish policemen are threatening to strike because the new women police are started out at a greater salary than male novices.

The women police have been appointed to deal with delinquent and defective women and children and the new appointees are to receive $300 more a year than regular men police when they first enter the service.

If the strike should occur the police chief will probably use the new women police as strike breakers by putting them on the beats of the strikers.

EMPEROR MAY BE EMBALMED

By Associated Press.

London, June 13.—The mystery of Menelik, the Emperor of Abyssinia, whose death has been reported innumerable times, only to be denied, remains unsolved. W. Theisger, British Minister to Abyssinia, has reported that even in Adis Abeba, the capital of Abyssinia, the facts are still unknown. No one will admit that the Emperor is dead and outside the palace there is complete ignorance on the subject.

The diplomatic corps has been unable to get at the truth; all the ministers can say is that they have not seen Menelik for years. The general belief is that the Emperor's embalmed body lies in the innermost room of the Gebi.

The capital is, however, completely tranquil and it is believed that any danger to foreigners is past.

Mr. Theisger has just completed a three months march along the Abyssinian frontier of British East Africa to inquire into the wounding of two British officers by raiders. He was accompanied by an Abyssinian escort over a hundred miles of lava strewn plain where 38 camels had to be employed to carry water for the caravan. The party marched to Nairobi, a total distance of 1116 miles.

Treating for Cancer.

Out of nearly five hundred cases of malignant cancer treated by the Radium Institute during the year 1913, fifty are described in the annual report of the Institute as apparently cured and 183 as "improved." In a number of cases the results are not yet noted.

The Institute declines to treat operable cases, radium being used only as a last resort.

"Tone only can show," the Lancet says, "if any of these satisfactory results are permanent, and not until some years have passed without fresh manifestations of the disease, could even the most favorable cases be described as cured."

WHAT IS DOING IN GERMANY BANK BOARD IS SELECTED

By Associated Press.

Berlin, June 13.—The Socialists and other liberal parties in the Prussian Diet are protesting against "the long unkept promise of the King."

More than six years ago the Emperor, as King of Prussia, declared it to be his desire that a modern franchise system be established in the state, to take the place of the existing three-class, non-secret ballot, which Bismark once termed "the most iniquitous system in the world." Since Chancellor von Buelow presented the King's desire to the Diet, only one attempt, and that wholly unsuccessful, has been made by the government to carry out the King's wishes. Minister von Loebell the new incumbent of the ministry of the interior now announces that he does not propose to present any measure this year for alteration of the voting system.

Underground Railroads.

Plans are under consideration for three new underground railway systems in Greater Berlin, at an estimated total cost of $60,000,000. One line, from the northeast to the southwest, touching at the Royal Opera House, probably will be built in the near future. The other two are not yet beyond the stage of preliminary consideration. One would start in the Grunewald, pass under the Brandenburg Gate and Unter den Linden, and then branch off to the southward. The other is a proposed extension of the existing Schoenberg Underground Railway both to the north and south. It would connect the southern suburbs directly with the main lines of the city.

New Locks Finished.

It is announced that the five years task of deepening and widening of the Baltic-North Sea Canal so as to accommodate the largest battleships will be practically completed by "Kiel Week," the latter part of this month.

The locks at the two ends, which do not raise the water level, but simply serve to prevent tidal currents, have been greatly enlarged and now exceed the dimensions of the Panama locks.

The new width of the canal is 333 feet, and its depth 36 feet. At four points the width will be such that the largest warships can easily turn around in it and reverse their course, thus enabling them to obey any sudden change of orders.

Washington, June 13.—President Wilson has selected Thomas B. Jones, a Chicago lawyer, and a personal friend, to be governor of the federal reserve board. There was high authority for the statement that E. C. Simmons, a well known merchant of St. Louis, had been chosen for a place on the board. The selection of the two men will complete the president's task of choosing five members of the board. The three following members already have been selected, although no nominations have been sent to the senate: Paul M. Warburg of New York, W. P. G. Harding of Birmingham and A. C. Miller of San Francisco. The president will formally announce the selections for the board on Monday. Information that the president had chosen Mr. Jones and Mr. Simmons came as a surprise in view of the fact that their appointment will leave New England without representation on the board.

Paris, June 13.—Although the repeated rumors of a divorce between the deposed King Manuel of Portugal and his German princess lack confirmation, friends of the family in Paris declare that their affairs have reached an acute stage. ## The English "Militants"

Not only is the number of women in merry old England who incline to militancy growing larger each day, but judging from the riotous conduct in which they engage and the acts of vandalism they commit, the disease from which they are suffering is becoming more acute.

The authorities of Great Britain, executive, legislative and judicial, from his Majesty King George on down through the whole long list, to village constable, are sorely troubled and at their wits end as to how to deal with the puzzling question which the women "furies" present.

Treasures of art are wantonly destroyed by the militant women. The king himself and high dignitaries of state and church are attacked and beaten and abused on every occasion. So common have the disturbances become that King George has abandoned his custom of going out unattended, so fearful is he of a scene with the "furies".

When brought into court and convicted of their crimes these women promptly go on a hunger strike and are released as the only means of saving their lives.

Never before in the history of any land or any people has a problem so difficult to deal with, confronted officials.

When Americans read of the outrages perpetrated by women in England for the purpose of furthering what they contend to be a righteous movement, they are, more than ever, justly proud of the good women of this land who are striving, but by far different and more effective means, to the attainment of the same end—equal suffrage—as are their English cousins.

It is only necessary to contrast the great gatherings of brainy women in this country, such as that one now in session at Chicago, with the anarchistic gatherings in England, to make Americans proud of their "women folks".

The course of the American women is winning converts to their cause every day, while the course of their English cousins is daily making the opposition stronger.

If they sought to demonstrate their incapacity to use authority, their actions could not be more effective for that purpose.

Bumper Crop Assurances

It is not out of the way to again call attention to the fact that unless "all signs fail" Uncle Sam is going to harvest the banner wheat crop in the history of the nation this season.

Statisticians estimate, and the basis for their estimates can scarcely be changed now that the people of this nation will put into their graneries this year nine hundred million bushels of wheat.

The average American, in his usual haste to pass on to something else of interest and surfeited with wonders, is not inclined to pause long enough to consider what these figures mean unless attention is particularly directed to them and their significance pointed out.

While mention has been made many times and in many places of the bright promise of a bumper wheat crop, the subject is one which contains so much of promise for business and for the people that repeated mention may be indulged in with better grace than some of the less pleasant subjects.

These figures mean, so some of the men who are employed to gather data and make estimates, tell us, that after the one hundred and eighty million bushels necessary to be saved for seed, is laid away and as much more fed to live stock there will be enough wheat left to provide two loaves of bread a day for every human being in the United States.

That's encouraging isn't it?

The average American is content to stop with that estimate without delving further into the statistics of the future and figuring out how we must increase production in order to meet the demands of an increasing population.

Of course it is possible for the pessimist to cast a shadow even on this bright picture by drawing on the future and his imagination for possible happenings and possible conditions.

What these bumper crop figures mean of good to business can scarcely be over-estimated. And while the nation at large is enjoying this prospect it is well to note that Fayette county is right in the swim with her big share of this bumper crop.

The American people and Fayette countians are entitled to enjoy the prospects of the immediate future and to act accordingly.

These figures are present facts and need not be reduced by other figures of future needs.

Poetry For Today

MIDSUMMER DAY'S DREAM.

When the sun gets around in the afternoon
And pierces the window shade with light,
I think me then of the wiles of June
Where the railroad fishing books invite.

Mine eyes recall the full-page plates
In which no hint of bliss is lost,
And thither my fancy emigrates
Without once thinking of the cost.

It is as if some fairy came
To bear me thither in a trance,
And Fortune, that most gracious dame,
Waived every earthly circumstance

Mine ears can hear the rumbling song
Of waters flowing down a hill,
And fancy blithely runs along
Without once thinking of the bill.

Ye misers with the wealth of earth,
What joy have ye that rivals this?
What grim possession that is worth
This brief imaginative bliss?

When the sun gets around in the afternoon
And pierces the window shade with light,
I think me then of the wiles of June
Where the railroad fishing books invite.

The Fly's Stabilizers.

"On either side of the waist line of a fly is a stabilizer," says Dr. Bellesme, a famous entomologist. "This looks something like a base drum stick. These are extremely small, not more than one-fiftieth as long as the fly's wings, and while in flight they may be moved about, much as a tight rope walker uses a long pole for balancing himself.

"In experimenting with flies these little stabilizers have been removed. When released the fly begins his flight but without these stabilizers he describes a sort of semicircle and invariably lands on his back.

"Wasps and bees keep their balance while in flight by shifting the center of inflection of the abdomen and legs."—Exchange.

LASTING ROADS ARE IMPOSSIBLE

(Contributed.)

In the construction of road building one important and salient point is too often lost sight of. There is no such thing as a permanent type of pavement. The only permanent road is one of earth and this of course is subject to the variations of weather. If an earth road could be in a climate constantly dry and kept in good repair it would be the ideal thoroughfare. But this is impossible, and, therefore, it becomes necessary to cover its surface with different kinds of material, paving and otherwise. These various kinds of materials are suited to different soils. To say that any one material would meet a universal demand or that any one material will prove permanent in its use, is preposterous, although the manufacturers of some types would endeavor to give out this belief. Because of this, the authorities who are charged with the selection of a proper material for the paving of roads under their supervision, should not be misled by specious statements, but carefully consider the conditions surrounding the work to be done, and select that type of construction which will most fully meet their needs. This will vary in different places, but it can be taken as granted that no paving material will be found suitable to all localities.

What is needed in regard to road building is a broad and comprehensive policy, subservient to no special interests. This is the consensus of those who have had the widest experience and are the most familiar in a practical way with this important subject, which so deeply affects every class of citizenship. Many manufacturers of automobiles, and perhaps more particularly the manufacturers of automobile trucks, through their representatives, both direct and indirect, can be charged, with good cause, as having created a menace to this necessary broad and comprehensive policy—a policy which should be adopted not only by the nation, but by every state, county, township and municipality.

It is a truth that facts and figures regarding the proper policy for highway improvement seem to be distasteful to those who have special interests to conserve, and in this lies a very serious obstruction to the carrying out of a general plan of construction work. Instead of looking at the question from the broad standpoint of general good, it is regarded from the selfish view of individual benefit. Articles prepared by eleventh hour and unqualified highway experts have been given wide publicity and the statements made, if allowed to go unchallenged, would mislead and misdirect public thought and opinion. The matter is far too important to permit this.

Hon. Logan Waller Page, director of the Bureau of Good Roads at Washington, D. C., as well as others no less well informed, and this is significant, are emphatic in their stand, that the improvement, repair and maintenance of the public highways, to obtain the best results, must be in accordance with traffic needs, soil conditions and local requirements. It is the opinion of all thoughtful students of the question, as shown in public statements, that any plan to promote a particular type of construction for general use should be denounced.

Articles which have been recently appearing in different publications, regarding road building, were not only vicious, but misleading. Some of the headlines were: "Grand Transformation in Highway Improvement," "Permanency in Highway Improvement," "Build Roads That Will Last," "Permanency Is Keynote in Modern Road-Building."

Under the last heading, in an article which appeared in the April issue of Better Roads and Streets, and in the Motorist (which is the official organ of the Ohio State Automobile association), by Iverson C. Wells, this preposterous statement was made, and it is an insult to any man's intelligence:

"Roads built of clay brick 500 years ago in Holland are still doing service today. Streets built with clay brick in London 300 years ago are still carrying the heavy traffic of the world's greatest metropolis. These are permanent roads."

In this article instances are cited where streets have been paved in this country by the use of brick for a wearing surface, that have stood for a quarter of a century, but no references whatever are made to the construction of other types that have withstood the traffic and that have been fully as economical, and perhaps more so, when the question of the cost of construction is considered.

The science of road building consists in the improvement, repair and maintenance of the greatest number of miles of public highways at the least possible cost.

A brick road 16 feet wide, properly constructed, will cost from $20,000 to $25,000 per mile, and the cost of maintenance and care, including interest maintenance at 5 per cent, and also including $500 to $750, which must be set aside annually for 20 years to re-surface, will be from $1,500 to $2,100 per mile per year.

A concrete road will cost from $12,000 to $18,000 per mile. Interest maintenance is easily computed, but other maintenance costs are an unknown quantity. It is believed, however, that it will cost fully as much or more than a brick road.

A bituminous macadam road 16 feet wide, made by the penetration method, can be built for about $12,000 per mile, and can be maintained, including interest maintenance, for about $1,000 per mile per year.

A macadam road 16 feet wide with a carpet coat or bituminous cover, properly constructed, will cost about $2,000 per mile, and can be maintained, including interest maintenance, for about $650 per mile per year. And proper maintenance of roads of the macadam type means continuous maintenance, and continuous maintenance means a better road from year to year.

Many miles of public highways should be improved, maintained and repaired by the use of gravel or by utilizing local material, such as clay and sand, and, by the proper shaping and crowning of the ordinary earth roads, where the soil conditions will permit, and such improvement should be continued as long as local requirements can be conserved.

A very potent factor in this movement looking towards a nation-wide system of good roads are users of automobiles and members of automobile associations. These almost without exception are opposed to the methods pursued by the automobile truck industries. This is because recognition is given to the humane and American idea that the public highways should be improved for the benefit of the many and not for the few. The good roads movement started prior to the advent of the automobile. The argument used in those days was that improved highways would enable the farmer to deliver his products to the local market at the minimum cost, and would enhance the value of farm lands, and promote a "back to the farm" movement, and good roads would be the chief factor in reducing the high cost of living. Therefore, the farmers of the state of Ohio should follow the example of the farmers of the state of New York, in demanding a kind and class of improvement suitable to their local requirements, and calculated to benefit them.

In all of the good roads movement it seems to have been forgotten that no class of people is more directly interested than the women who live on the farm. Because of the poor condition of many roads, they are compelled to pass an unwarranted share of their time at home, unable to either reach their friends, who may live in town, or to receive visits from these friends in the urban centers. A very strong movement has been initiated by the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, in behalf of the good roads propaganda, and at a meeting to be held in Cleveland in May strong steps will be taken to urge upon the next session of the general assembly even more urgent legislation in behalf of road improvement than has heretofore been enacted.

The demands of the automobile truck manufacturers for the construction of roads of a type that are calculated to withstand the impact of a heavily laden automobile truck, with the wearing out qualities of an ordinary freight car, should not be considered, but, on the other hand, it is hoped that the next legislature will enact a law prohibiting the abuses of the public highways by the use of inordinate destructive forces of this character.

PROGRESS MADE AT CONFERENCE

First and Most Vital Part of Peace Plan Adopted.

AGREEMENT PUT INTO WRITING

Provides For Installation of Provisional Government in Mexico to Take the Place of General Huerta. Definitely Agreed Upon That Person Selected For Provisional Head Shall Be Acceptable to Dictator.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 13.—The first and the most vital part of the peace plan evoked by the mediators has been put into writing and definitely adopted by all sides. This was done at a full conference.

The first part of the plan provides for the installation of a provisional government in Mexico to take the place of General Huerta. The actual form of succession has been left open, but it has been definitely agreed upon by all sides that no candidate will be chosen who has not been approved by Huerta.

After a candidate believed to be acceptable has been agreed upon, the Mexican delegates will transmit his name to General Huerta, and not before the choice has been sanctioned by the provisional president will it be adopted at the conference.

Developments plainly showed that the administration is prepared even to completely abandon Carranza rather than to permit the mediation conference to fail.

The fact that the new plan, which has now been definitely adopted, provides for the selection of a candidate acceptable to Huerta, was definitely confirmed by one of those most prominently connected with the conference. It was explained that the choice of the man would not be left to the dictator. The selections will be made here at Niagara Falls, but no man will be chosen who is not believed to be acceptable to the present head of the Mexican government. General Huerta, it was explained, has practically agreed to abide by the decision of his delegates.

Those who are in a position to know declared that the form of succession would be in complete accord with the Mexican constitution.

At the next meeting of the conference, the names of possible candidates for the provisional presidency will be discussed for the first time. It is freely predicted here that if the administration continues to assist the mediators in their work the proceedings will be ended within a week.

cheer. Finally someone enlightened the worthy policeman, who turned crimson with mortification.

No one enjoyed the joke more than Alfonso. With a broad grin he held out his hand and shook the policeman warmly.

"Adios, Alguazil," he said, as he pressed his foot on his electric starter. In a few minutes the automobile was a speck on the San Sebastian road. Since then Policeman Pelourcat is celebrated in Bayonne as "the man who arrested the King."

Remarkable Case.

Of thirty-three witnesses cited in a murder case which has just begun at Versailles, thirteen have died since the crime was committed thirteen years ago. The nineteen remaining will now be heard. The accused, Jean Louis Louis, had already been condemned to death by default, shortly after the murder, no trace of him being found at the time. He recently was arrested, having lived under an assumed name.

Smaller Coins.

The new nickel coinage to replace the cumbersome copper sou will make its appearance probably the latter part of this month. The authorities have been delayed in the minting as the existing plant had to be furnished with new machinery to handle the less malleable nickel.

WILSON PLEASED WITH NEW TURN

Washington, June 13.—Both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were in an optimistic frame of mind in regard to the Mexican situation. The note from Carranza signifying his intention to participate in the Niagara Falls conference and the clearing of the deadlock over the method of installing the new provisional government at Mexico City were regarded as highly encouraging developments by administration officials. There was, however, no certainty that Carranza would be admitted to the conference, although Mr. Bryan refused to believe that the action of the mediators would preclude the possibility of participation in the Niagara Falls conference by the Constitutionals.

TROUBLE AHEAD OF EVADERS

Income Tax Fails to Provide
Revenue Expected From It.

Washington, June 13.—The income tax will fall by nearly $21,000,000 to provide the revenue expected from it by the framers of the new tariff law. The taxes on individual returns will be $24,000,000 less than the treasury department experts had estimated. The total assessments of individuals will be only $30,050,000, while the original estimate of revenue from the source was about $55,000,000. The government dragnet has therefore thus far caught only a little more than half what it had expected.

Government officials now realize that they are meeting with evasions which were predicted before the law was enacted. In fact the treasury department served notice of its intention to start after the "evaders."

Secretary McAdoo in a statement said: "The department is convinced that many liable to the income tax have failed to make returns and that many have made inaccurate returns. Active steps will be taken to discover all evasions of the law and a large additional amount of income tax will be collected from these delinquents." Notwithstanding this deficit in the estimated return from the income tax, Secretary McAdoo states the treasury will end the present fiscal year of June 30 next with a surplus of about $30,000,000.

THIS KING WANTS AMERICAN HOME

By Associated Press.

Copenhagen, June 13.—King Christian has decided that the newest of his numerous residences shall be furnished in American style in every detail. He will not imitate the home of the American multi-millionaire. The style he has selected to copy is that of the simple and efficient equipment of the average American home. He has long been an admirer of the American arts and conveniences of home-making and he has insisted that his newest house, which is situated on the Skaw, will lack none of them.

The excuse for so many residences as King Christian has in so small a country as Denmark is his fondness of keeping in touch with his people, which, he maintains, he cannot do better than by living everywhere.

The king maintains an elaborate entourage, but it is only for the entertainment of visiting sovereigns and diplomats. As for himself he lives in the most simple manner. No ruler in Europe is more easily accessible.

Recently on a visit to Nakskov, the king was attracted by a delicious apple pie displayed in a shop window. He went inside to buy a piece, and while there bought some cake for a small boy in the shop. Later the shop woman learned the identity of her royal customer and she promptly hung out a sign announcing that her shop purveyed to the royal family of Denmark.

During the late motor show the king evinced keen interest in the display of American motor cars and when he bought 50 lottery tickets he expressed the hope that he would win an American car.

Peculiar State of Affairs.

The Danish policemen are threatening to strike because the new women police are started out at a greater salary than male novices.

The women police have been appointed to deal with delinquent and defective women and children and the new appointees are to receive $300 more a year than regular men police when they first enter the service.

If the strike should occur the police chief will probably use the new women police as strike breakers by putting them on the beats of the strikers.

EMPEROR MAY BE EMBALMED

By Associated Press.

London, June 13.—The mystery of Menelik, the Emperor of Abyssinia, whose death has been reported innumerable times, only to be denied, remains unsolved. W. Theisger, British Minister to Abyssinia, has reported that even in Addis Ababa, the capital of Abyssinia, the facts are still unknown. No one will admit that the Emperor is dead and outside the palace there is complete ignorance on the subject.

The diplomatic corps has been unable to get at the truth; all the ministers can say is that they have not seen Menelik for years. The general belief is that the Emperor's embalmed body lies in the innermost room of the Gebi.

The capital is, however, completely tranquil and it is believed that any danger to foreigners is past.

Mr. Theisger has just completed a three months march along the Abyssinian frontier of British East Africa to inquire into the wounding of two British officers by raiders. He was accompanied by an Abyssinian escort over a hundred miles of lava strewn plain where 38 camels had to be employed to carry water for the caravan. The party marched to Nairobi, a total distance of 1116 miles.

Treating for Cancer.

Out of nearly five hundred cases of malignant cancer treated by the Radium Institute during the year 1913, fifty are described in the annual report of the Institute as apparently cured and 183 as "improved." In a number of cases the results are not yet noted.

The Institute declines to treat operable cases, radium being used only as a last resort.

"Tome only can show," the Lancet says, "if any of these satisfactory results are permanent, and not until some years have passed without fresh manifestations of the disease, could even the most favorable cases be described as cured."

WHAT IS DOING IN GERMANY

By Associated Press.

Berlin, June 13.—The Socialists and other liberal parties in the Prussian Diet are protesting against "the long unkept promise of the King."

More than six years ago the Emperor, as King of Prussia, declared it to be his desire that a modern franchise system be established in the state, to take the place of the existing three-class, non-secret ballot, which Bismarck once termed "the most iniquitous system in the world." Since Chancellor von Buelow presented the King's desire to the Diet, only one attempt, and that wholly unsuccessful, has been made by the government to carry out the King's wishes. Minister von Loebell the new incumbent of the ministry of the interior now announces that he does not propose to present any measure this year for alteration of the voting system.

Underground Railroads.

Plans are under consideration for three new underground railway systems in Greater Berlin, at an estimated total cost of $60,000,000. One line, from the northeast to the southwest, touching at the Royal Opera House, probably will be built in the near future. The other two are not yet beyond the stage of preliminary consideration. One would start in the Grunewald, pass under the Brandenburg Gate and Unter den Linden, and then branch off to the southward. The other is a proposed extension of the existing Schoenberg Underground Railway both to the north and south. It would connect the southern suburbs directly with the main lines of the city.

New Locks Finished.

It is announced that the five years task of deepening and widening of the Baltic-North Sea Canal so as to accommodate the largest battleships will be practically completed by "Kiel Week," the latter part of this month.

The locks at the two ends, which do not raise the water level, but simply serve to prevent tidal currents, have been greatly enlarged and now exceed the dimensions of the Panama locks.

The new width of the canal is 333 feet, and its depth 36 feet. At four points the width will be such that the largest warships can easily turn around in it and reverse their course, thus enabling them to obey any sudden change of orders.

The English "Militants"

Not only is the number of women in merry old England who incline to militancy growing larger each day, but judging from the riotous conduct in which they engage and the acts of vandalism they commit, the disease from which they are suffering is becoming more acute.

The authorities of Great Britain, executive, legislative and judicial, from his Majesty King George on down through the whole long list, to village constable, are sorely troubled and at their wits end as to how to deal with the puzzling question which the women "furies" present.

Treasures of art are wantonly destroyed by the militant women. The king himself and high dignitaries of state and church are attacked and beaten and abused on every occasion. So common have the disturbances become that King George has abandoned his custom of going out unattended, so fearful is he of a scene with the "furies".

When brought into court and convicted of their crimes these women promptly go on a hunger strike and are released as the only means of saving their lives.

Never before in the history of any land or any people has a problem so difficult to deal with, confronted officials.

When Americans read of the outrages perpetrated by women in England for the purpose of furthering what they contend to be a righteous movement, they are, more than ever, justly proud of the good women of this land who are striving, but by far different and more effective means, to the attainment of the same end—equal suffrage—as are their English cousins.

It is only necessary to contrast the great gatherings of brainy women in this country, such as that one now in session at Chicago, with the anarchistic gatherings in England, to make Americans proud of their "women folks".

The course of the American women is winning converts to their cause every day, while the course of their English cousins is daily making the opposition stronger.

If they sought to demonstrate their incapacity to use authority, their actions could not be more effective for that purpose.

Bumper Crop Assurances

It is not out of the way to again call attention to the fact that unless "all signs fail" Uncle Sam is going to harvest the banner wheat crop in the history of the nation this season.

Statisticians estimate, and the basis for their estimates can scarcely be changed now that the people of this nation will put into their graneries this year nine hundred million bushels of wheat.

The average American, in his usual haste to pass on to something else of interest and surfeited with wonders, is not inclined to pause long enough to consider what these figures mean unless attention is particularly directed to them and their significance pointed out.

While mention has been made many times and in many places of the bright promise of a bumper wheat crop, the subject is one which contains so much of promise for business and for the people that repeated mention may be indulged in with better grace than some of the less pleasant subjects.

These figures mean, so some of the men who are employed to gather data and make estimates, tell us, that after the one hundred and eighty million bushels necessary to be saved for seed, is laid away and as much more fed to live stock there will be enough wheat left to provide two loaves of bread a day for every human being in the United States.

That's encouraging isn't it?

The average American is content to stop with that estimate without delving further into the statistics of the future and figuring out how we must increase production in order to meet the demands of an increasing population.

Of course it is possible for the pessimist to cast a shadow even on this bright picture by drawing on the future and his imagination for possible happenings and possible conditions.

What these bumper crop figures mean of good to business can scarcely be over-estimated. And while the nation at large is enjoying this prospect it is well to note that Fayette county is right in the swim with her big share of this bumper crop.

The American people and Fayette countians are entitled to enjoy the prospects of the immediate future and to act accordingly.

These figures are present facts and need not be reduced by other figures of future needs.

Poetry For Today

MIDSUMMER DAY'S DREAM.

When the sun gets around in the afternoon
And pierces the window shade with light,
I think me then of the wiles of June
Where the railroad fishing books invite.
Mine eyes recall the full-page plates
In which no hint of bliss is lost,
And thither my fancy emigrates
Without once thinking of the cost.

It is as if some fairy came
To bear me thither in a trance,
And Fortune, that most gracious dame,
Waived every earthly circumstance
Mine ears can hear the rumbling song
Of waters flowing down a hill,
And fancy blithely runs along
Without once thinking of the bill.

Ye misers with the wealth of earth,
What joy have ye that rivals this?
What grim possession that is worth
This brief imaginative bliss?
When the sun gets around in the afternoon,
And pierces the window shade with light,
I think me then of the wiles of June
Where the railroad fishing books invite.

The Fly's Stabilizers.

"On either side of the waist line of a fly is a stabilizer," says Dr. Bellesme, a famous entomologist. "This looks something like a base drum stick. These are extremely small, not more than one-fifteenth as long as the fly's wings, and while in flight they may be moved about, much as a tight rope walker uses a long pole for balancing himself.

"In experimenting with flies these little stabilizers have been removed. When released the fly begins his flight but without these stabilizers he describes a sort of semicircle and invariably lands on his back.
"Wasps and bees keep their balance while in flight by shifting the center of inflection of the abdomen and legs."

Would Have Made No Difference.

Sir Edward Cook in his "Life of Florence Nightingale" tells a story of a wounded soldier who picked up another wounded soldier and stumbled back into camp with him.

The rescued man turned out to be a general, no less, and when he went to see his rescuer in hospital the latter exclaimed:

"I'm glad I didn't know it was your honor. But if I'd known it was you I'd have saved you all the same!"

LASTING ROADS ARE IMPOSSIBLE

(Contributed.)

In the construction of road building one important and salient point is too often lost sight of. There is no such thing as a permanent type of pavement. The only permanent road is one of earth and this of course is subject to the variations of weather. If an earth road could be in a climate constantly dry and kept in good repair it would be the ideal thoroughfare. But this is impossible, and, therefore, it becomes necessary to cover its surface with different kinds of material, paving and otherwise. These various kinds of materials are suited to different soils. To say that any one material would meet a universal demand or that any one material will prove permanent in its use, is preposterous, although the manufacturers of some types would endeavor to give out this belief. Because of this, the authorities who are charged with the selection of a proper material for the paving of roads under their supervision, should not be misled by specious statements, but carefully consider the conditions surrounding the work to be done, and select that type of construction which will most fully meet their needs. This will vary in different places, but it can be taken as granted that no paving material will be found suitable to all localities.

What is needed in regard to road building is a broad and comprehensive policy, subservient to no special interests. This is the consensus of those who have had the widest experience and are the most familiar in a practical way with this important subject, who so deeply affects every class of citizenship. Many manufacturers of automobiles, and perhaps more particularly the manufacturers of automobile trucks, through their representatives, both direct and indirect, can be charged, with good cause, as having created a menace to this necessary broad and comprehensive policy—a policy which should be adopted not only by the nation, but by every state, county, township and municipality.

It is a truth that facts and figures regarding the proper policy for highway improvement seem to be distasteful to those who have special interests to conserve, and in this lies a very serious obstruction to the carrying out of a general plan of construction work. Instead of looking at the question from the broad standpoint of general good, it is regarded from the selfish view of individual benefit. Articles prepared by eleventh hour and unqualified highway experts have been given wide publicity and the statements made, if allowed to go unchallenged, would mislead and misdirect public thought and opinion. The matter is far too important to permit this.

Hon. Logan Waller Page, director of the Bureau of Good Roads at Washington, D. C., as well as others no less well informed, and this is significant, are emphatic in their stand, that the improvement, repair and maintenance of the public highways, to obtain the best results, must be in accordance with traffic needs, soil conditions and local requirements. It is the opinion of all thoughtful students of the question, as shown in public statements, that any plan to promote a particular type of construction for general use should be denounced.

Articles which have been recently appearing in different publications, regarding road building, were not only vicious, but misleading. Some of the headlines were: "Grand Transformation in Highway Improvement," "Permanency in Highway Improvement," "Build Roads That Will Last," "Permanency Is Keynote in Modern Road-Building."

Under the last heading, in an article which appeared in the April issue of Better Roads and Streets, and in the Motorist (which is the official organ of the Ohio State Automobile association), by Iverson C. Wells, this preposterous statement was made, and it is an insult to any man's intelligence:

"Roads built of clay brick 500 years ago in Holland are still doing service today. Streets built with clay brick in London 300 years ago are still carrying the heavy traffic of the world's greatest metropolis. These are permanent roads."

In this article instances are cited where streets have been paved in this country by the use of brick for a wearing surface, that have stood for a quarter of a century, but no references whatever are made to the construction of other types that have withstood the traffic and that have been fully as economical, and perhaps more so, when the question of the cost of construction is considered.

The science of road building consists in the improvement, repair and maintenance of the greatest number of miles of public highways at the least possible cost.

A brick road 16 feet wide, properly constructed, will cost from $20,000 to $25,000 per mile, and the cost of maintenance and care, including interest maintenance at 5 per cent, and also including $500 to $750, which must be set aside annually for 20 years to re-surface, will be from $1,500 to $2,100 per mile per year.

A concrete road will cost from $12,000 to $18,000 per mile. Interest maintenance is easily computed, but other maintenance costs are an unknown quantity. It is believed, however, that it will cost fully as much or more than a brick road.

A bituminous macadam road 16 feet wide, made by the penetration method, can be built for about $12,000 per mile, and can be maintained, including interest maintenance, for about $1,000 per mile per year.

A macadam road 16 feet wide with a carpet coat or bituminous cover, properly constructed, will cost about $8,000 per mile, and can be maintained, including interest maintenance, for about $650 per mile per year. And proper maintenance of roads of the macadam type means continuous maintenance, and continuous maintenance means a better road from year to year.

Many miles of public highways should be improved, maintained and repaired by the use of gravel or by utilizing local material, such as clay and sand, and, by the proper shaping and crowning of the ordinary earth roads, where the soil conditions will permit, and such improvement should be continued as long as local requirements can be conserved.

A very potent factor in this movement looking towards a nation-wide system of good roads are users of automobiles and members of automobile associations. These almost without exception are opposed to the methods pursued by the automobile truck industries. This is because recognition is given to the humane and American idea that the public highways should be improved for the benefit of the many and not for the few. The good roads movement started prior to the advent of the automobile. The argument used in those days was that improved highways would enable the farmer to deliver his products to the local market at the minimum cost, and would enhance the value of farm lands, and promote a "back to the farm" movement, and good roads would be the chief factor in reducing the high cost of living. Therefore, the farmers of the state of Ohio should follow the example of the farmers of the state of New York, in demanding a kind and class of improvement suitable to their local requirements, and calculated to benefit them.

In all of the good roads movement it seems to have been forgotten that no class of people is more directly interested than the women who live on the farm. Because of the poor condition of many roads, they are compelled to pass an unwarranted share of their time at home, unable to either reach their friends, who may live in town, or to receive visits from these friends in the urban centers.

A very strong movement has been initiated by the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, in behalf of the good roads propaganda, and at a meeting to be held in Cleveland in May strong steps will be taken to urge upon the next session of the general assembly even more urgent legislation in behalf of road improvement than has heretofore been enacted.

The demands of the automobile truck manufacturers for the construction of roads of a type that are calculated to withstand the impact of a heavily laden automobile truck, with the wearing out qualities of an ordinary freight car, should not be considered, but, on the other hand, it is hoped that the next legislature will enact a law prohibiting the abuses of the public highways by the use of inordinate destructive forces of this character.

HOW WHEELS OF PROGRESS FIGURED IN THE CAMPAIGN

Telephones and Automobiles Made It Possible for the Workers to Get in Touch With Men Who Materially Aided in Closing up Memorable Campaign for $25,000.

That the mechanical progress and perfection of the present age are responsible for the seemingly stupendous tasks that are accomplished daily by the modern man, the fact, like many others, is never fully realized until it is brought home—until, in other words, some remarkable undertaking is successfully completed, in the community in which we live and mingle, and that same success can be traced directly, either in whole or in part, to the aid of the machine.

And the fact was brought home—right here in Washington C. H.—during the notable Y. M. C. A. campaign just finished. It is perfectly safe to state that had it not been for the aid of telephones, automobiles and at least a dozen other products of the brain of modern, or near-modern inventors, this successful crusade would have failed.

It is interesting to note, in connection and in proof of the statement, that half, or perhaps more, of the $25,000 raised, was accomplished by workers who had the advantage of automobiles. They were able to cover more territory; they were able to approach their prospects with more assurance and lastly, they were able during the last few hours, when time was more precious than jewels, to make quick calls at long distance on prospects whose financial aid meant the success of the campaign. One instance in connection is demonstrated by the fact that a party under Captain William McClain made a hurry-up trip, via auto, to the home of Mr. Harry Pugsley, several miles from the city, in a little over a half hour, and in that time had a pleasant chat with the donor, secured his check for $500 and returned to the city. The party departed on the trip at a few minutes before 9 o'clock Thursday evening and had their report in at the Y. M. C. A., together with the money at 9:30 o'clock.

By the aid of the telephone an amount greater than is generally realized was secured during the fight for funds. At 11:30 o'clock of the closing night, a time when subscriptions were coming slowly and the prospect of success had assumed a dark blue shade, some of the workers got busy on the telephones and raised several hundred dollars in a few minutes—enough to start the ball rolling again. One of these contributions by telephone was that of Mr. Nathan Creamer, of near Jeffersonville, who had given liberally before, and who at this critical time phoned an additional donation of $250.

And these are but two of many instances.

NEW Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY MAY BE CHOSEN TONIGHT

Educational Secretary, Walter Patton, of Springfield Y. M. C. A., may be Man Selected to Fill Vacancy Caused by Resignation of General Secretary Ray F. Zaner.

A meeting, the result of which will be awaited with general public interest, will be held tonight by the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of determining if possible on a successor to the position of secretary of the association to be made vacant June 15, by the resignation of Mr. Ray F. Zaner.

Although several men are being considered for the position, it is thought probable by those informed in Y. M. C. A. circles, that the choice of the board will be Mr. Walter Patton, of Springfield, O., who will be present at the meeting.

Mr. Patton is an able man, and while not generally known in Washington C. H., personally, he is known to association men by the work he has accomplished in the interest of that organization elsewhere. For the past several years Mr. Patton has been affiliated with the Springfield association as secretary of the Educational department, and during that time has made an enviable reputation. He will be remembered by the young men here as the man who coached the champion Springfield high school football team of 1913.

The meeting of the board is to be held at 7:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A.

AERONAUT GILL FALLS TO DEATH

John O. Gill, Mt. Sterling aeronaut who has thrilled many Fayette county crowds by his daring ascensions and parachute drops, met instant death at Richmond, Ind., late Thursday evening, when the third parachute used in making the drop to earth, refused to work and he fell more than 500 feet, practically every bone in his body being crushed by the terrific impact when he struck the earth.

The daring aeronaut's fall was witnessed by several thousand people. He cut loose from the balloon at a height of more than 2000 feet, and then cut loose each parachute in rapid succession, but the lower parachute failed to open, and he fell like a rocket.

Walter Gill, a brother, went to Richmond, Friday morning, and returned to Mt. Sterling with the remains Saturday, passing through this city.

Gill was 27 years of age and is survived by a widow.

He is the man who has been making balloon ascensions and parachute drops at various picnics in this county for several years past, and only last summer nearly met death at New Holland when the heavy gas bag fell, nearly striking his parachute while he was at an enormous height.

17TH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

Brilliant Program Rendered at Stinson Conservatory of Music Last Night, When Miss Ida Cook Receives Diploma—Many Music Lovers Enjoy the Program.

Conservatory hall was filled with an interested audience Friday evening, when the seventeenth annual commencement of Stinson Conservatory passed off successfully, with the beauty of floral adornment and all the attractions of the June graduation adding to the pleasure of the evening.

A brilliant program of piano and vocal music, interspersed with readings, was presented, and the graduate, Miss Ida Cook, daughter of Mr. John Cook, of near New Holland, the center of interest.

Mrs. Eldora Stinson, president of the Conservatory, and Miss Golda Ryan, of the faculty, and recognized as one of the most capable pupils ever receiving commencement honors from the Conservatory, opened and closed the program with concert numbers that gave opportunity for fine ensemble work.

The opening number was "Concert Paraphrase", Schubert-Tausig, and the closing Liszt's "Fantasie".

Miss Cook's graduation program was one ambitious and difficult in the extreme and showed to splendid advantage the capability of the gifted young graduate. She excels in octave work and brilliancy of execution. Her program was as versatile as it was difficult. Two marked numbers were Chopin's "Revolutionary Etude" which is only attempted by artists, and in which Miss Cook did fine work and Beethoven's Concerto Op. 15, its credenzas making heavy demands in technique. "The Erl King", Schubert-Tausig, was also a most difficult number and "Murmuring Zephyrs", Jensen, gave opportunity for totally different style in its interpretation.

Mrs. Stinson presented the diploma to the white robed young graduate with warm words of congratulation, and commendation of the hard work which was proven in the evening's numbers.

Mrs. F. G. Carpenter, of the faculty, departed from her usual method of interpretations and gave two musical readings, one a bit of sparkling comedy, the other a classic, highly dramatic. Miss Roxie Stinson accompanied the readings perfectly, both numbers most effective. Miss Lois Hankins, of Sedalia, delighted the audience with one of the new monologues by Mary Moncure Parker.

Miss Stinson contributed two charming songs, (a) "Rose in the Bud", Forster; (b) "In Autumn", Franz, to the program. Mrs. Stinson and Miss Ryan were the evening's accompanists.

Rev. A. E. Harper gave the invocation and Rev. F. E. Ross the benediction.

The Buck florists had the decorating in charge, using palms and shell pink carnations in graceful arrangement.

Acting as ushers in white gowns were the conservatory juniors.

Origin of the Word "Mustard."
Our English word "mustard" is traceable to the French "mountarde," the origin of which is curiously given. In 1382 Philip the Bold, duke of Burgundy, granted to the town of Dijon the privilege of bearing his armorial ensigns, with the motto "Moult me tarde" ("I wish ardently"), in return for a handsome contingent of a thousand men furnished to him at its expense. Pleased with the royal condescension, the authorities ordered the device to be affixed over the principal gates of the city. Time or accident at length obliterated the middle word, and the two remaining, moult tarde, were printed on the labels which the merchants of Dijon pasted on pots in which they sent this commodity all over the world.

Our Constitution.
The United States constitution is not modeled on any other; but, on the contrary, several are modeled on it, notably those of Canada, Australia, the Central and South American republics, Switzerland and, to a certain extent, China. It was drafted by a convention in 1787, ratified by nine states (the prescribed number) in 1788 and set to work under George Washington as first president in 1789. It is a very simple document, containing originally only seven articles.—Christian Herald.

FLY TRAPS OUT FLIES ARE SCARCE

The Board of Health has placed some three dozen improved fly traps at various points in the city, in order to eliminate, as far as possible, the fly nuisance.

The traps are better than those formerly used in the city, and it is the hope of the Board of Health that the flyless condition of the city will continue, as it has during the past few years.

Since Washington has inaugurated the method of eliminating the house fly, other cities throughout the state are following example, and find that municipal fly traps are a pretty good solution to the fly problem.

HITS COMPETITION OF UNFAIR NATURE

Amendment Adopted to the Trade Commission Bill.

BOARD GIVEN BROAD POWERS

Will Have Authority to Issue Orders Restraining and Prohibiting Any Unfair Method of Competition in the World of Commerce—Amendment by Senator Gore Aimed at Companies Piping Gas or Oil.

Washington, June 13.—The senate interstate commerce committee adopted the amendment to the interstate trade commission bill giving the commission broad powers in restraining industrial corporations from indulging in "unfair competition."

The authority thus proposed to be conveyed to the trade commission is not quite as extensive as that exercised by the interstate commerce commission in regulating railroads, but is broad enough nevertheless to cause some apprehension on the part of the conservatives. The amendment adopted provides:

"Whenever the commission shall have reason to believe that any corporation has been or is using any unfair method of competition in commerce it shall issue and serve upon such corporation a written order at least thirty days in advance of the time set therein for hearing, directing it to appear before the commission and show cause why an order shall not be issued by the commission restraining and prohibiting it from using such method of competition; and if upon such hearing the commission shall find that the method of competition in question is prohibited by this act, it shall thereupon issue an order restraining and prohibiting the use of the same. The commission may at any time modify or set aside in whole or in part any order issued by it under this act.

"Whenever the commission shall find that such corporation has not complied therewith the commission may petition the district court of the United States within the district where the method in question was used or where such corporation is located or carries on business praying the court to issue an injunction to enforce such order of the commission and the court is hereby authorized to issue such injunction."

Another amendment adopted by the committee empowers the commission to make inquiries into trade conditions at home and abroad.

An amendment offered by Senator Gore specially making unlawful the alleged unfair practices of companies that pipe gas or oil, is likely to be adopted.

ITALIAN ADMITS KILLING FRIEND

Somersville, N. J., June 13.—Seventeen-year-old Stefano Ruggieri, in his cell in murderers' row in the Somerset county jail, where three of his fellow countrymen are also confined for three murders committed in the past three weeks, confessed to the authorities that he fired the shot which killed Jacoma Folzarano and tore out the eyes of Loring Dagnasto at Millington on May 17. He said he had killed the wrong man, as he had intended to murder Dagnasto, who had got him out of a job. The shot which he had fired into a group went wild, killing Folzarano, who was his friend.

ENORMOUS LOSS

Washington, June 13.—A battle is again raging at Mazatlan. The heavy infantry fire from the opposing armies has been supplemented by artillery fire, which is causing an enormous death toll and much damage to property.

The situation in regard to the food and water supply is becoming more serious. No steps have been taken to relieve the inhabitants and non-combatants are unable to leave the city to procure food on account of the fighting going on continuously.

VILLAGE WRECKED

Marión, O., June 13.—Laying waste a swath almost a mile wide and two and one-half miles long, a cyclone struck the village of Marión, doing damage estimated at $200,000 and fatally injuring Samuel Althought, forty, who was in his garage when it was wrecked by the wind. Nearly every house in the village was damaged.

WOMAN AVIATOR

Dayton, O., June 13.—Mrs. Ritzberg Hornsby of Chicago qualified at the Wright aviation ground here as an air pilot. She is the third American woman and the sixth in the world to obtain pilot honors.

SHARP GETS PARIS POST

Washington, June 13.—President Wilson nominated Representative William Sharp of Elyria, O., to be ambassador to France. Mr. Sharp will succeed Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, who was appointed by President Taft.

The president's action in sending the nomination of Mr. Sharp to the senate disclosed definitely for the first time that National Chairman William McCombs had decided not to accept the ambassadorship. The post was tendered Mr. McCombs the first week of President Wilson's administration. Another report which was disposed of by the action of the president was that Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo was to be named ambassador to France as a means to relieve the president of any embarrassment that might ensue from having his son-in-law in the cabinet.

Mr. Sharp is a retired manufacturer of iron and chemicals and has the necessary wealth to meet the heavy expenses in the life of an ambassador at Paris.

CLOSED FOLLOWING MILD RUN

Three Associated Banks in Chicago Forced to Suspend Pending Investigation — Institutions Involved Are Known as the Lorimer-Munday Chain—Combined Deposit Liabilities Aggregate About $8,000,000.

Chicago, June 13.—Action in the courts is expected to follow the closing of examiners of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, of which ex-United States Senator Lorimer is president, and three associated banks. Chief Bank Examiner Harkins and a score of assistants are busily engaged in trying to unravel the financial tangle which resulted in a run on the La Salle Street bank. Mr. Harkins said it would be several days before the actual state of affairs is known. In round figures the combined deposit liabilities aggregate between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000. The La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank is a state institution, located in the heart of the downtown district. It was established originally as a national bank by ex-Senator Lorimer. Neither it nor its predecessor has ever been a member of the clearing house.

An examination of the La Salle bank by Examiner Harkins two months ago disclosed, he said, a quantity of what he regarded as slow assets. The bank officials are said by state officials to have pleaded for a little time in which to change that condition.

In the last three weeks, according to Examiner Harkins and the cashier of the bank, there has been what was termed a mild run on the bank, causing a depletion of about $1,000,000 of deposits.

Former United States Senator Lorimer, president, and C. B. Munday, vice president, refused to comment on the situation.

Rumors are current that a receivership will be asked and that politics is involved in the case.

The four banks closed are the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, the Broadway State bank, the Illinois State bank and the Ashland-Twelfth State bank, known as the Lorimer-Munday chain of banks.

AIR PILOTS IN DANGER

Portland, Ore., June 13.—A terrific electrical storm, overtaking the four balloons which started from here Thursday in the first national balloon race, has driven two of them to earth, and the greatest fears are entertained for the safety of the other two. A message brought by carrier pigeon indicates that Captain John Berry, piloting a St. Louis balloon, is seriously injured, but the location of the balloon is not known.

RUSHING FOOD

Cleveland, O., June 13.—The wholesale grocers and commission men have responded to an appeal to rush canned goods and foodstuffs to Vera Cruz for Americans.

JEROME STILL PURSUES THAW

Washington, June 13.—William T. Jerome filed a brief in the supreme court for the state of New York opposing the application of Harry K. Thaw for release under bail, pending hearing of habeas corpus appeal. Jerome abandoned a plan to have Thaw withdraw his application and to permit the slayer of Stanford White to go to Pittsburgh with a United States deputy marshal.

STORK'S VISIT

Findlay, O., June 13.—Former Congressman Ralph D. Cole, who is now a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, made a hurried run from Columbus to Findlay on receipt of information that he is the father of a ten-pound boy. The mother is doing well. Mr. and Mrs. Cole have been married seven years.

FIRE THREATENS

Delaware, O., June 13.—The Delaware fire department was called to Kilbourne, a town six miles north of this city, to aid in fighting a fire which threatened the village. A shift in the wind confined the blaze to several barns.

BATHER DROWNS

Zanesville, O., June 13.—Jack Reighthead, who was graduated from the local high school, was drowned while bathing in the Muskingum river.

ATTACKS LEADERS

Redmond Declares War On the Provisional Committee.

London, June 13.—John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, declared war on the provisional committee of the Nationalist Volunteers, a majority of whom, he asserts, are not supporters of the Irish party.

Although the provisional committee at a meeting held in Dublin June 10 verbally welcomed Mr. Redmond's co-operation in the Irish volunteer movement, it followed this up with a call to the volunteers in each county to elect a representative to serve on the committee, and this action the Irish leader interprets as a refusal of the committee to accept his proposal, made June 9, that 25 representatives of the Irish party should be added to the committee in control.

A meeting of the Irish Nationalists discussed the matter in the house of commons, and subsequently Mr. Redmond issued a letter declaring that the action of the committee "amounts to a refusal to accept my offer of co-operation."

Declaring that the rank and file and the responsible leaders of the Irish people are entitled to demand some guarantee that an attempt shall not be made in the name of the Irish Volunteers to dictate the policy of the National party, Mr. Redmond finds the best guarantee of this to be the presence on the governing body of men of proved judgment and steadiness, as suggested by him. He regrets that the committee "should so hastily have repudiated" his suggestion.

SCHOOLS IN ARABIA.

Pupils Sit Swaying on the Floor as They All Study Aloud.

In the schools of Arabia the children, with the schoolmaster, sit upon the floor or the ground in a semicircle, and each has a tablet of wood which is painted white and upon which the lessons are written. When the latter are learned they are washed out and replaced by other lessons.

During study hours the Arab schools remind one of the Chinese, for the children all study aloud, and as they chant they rock back and forth like trees in a storm, and this movement is continued for an hour or more at a time. The schoolmaster rocks back and forth also, and altogether the school presents a most novel appearance as well as sound. Worshippers in the mosques always move about while reciting the Koran, as this movement is believed to assist the memory.

The desks of the Arab schools are odd contrivances of palm sticks, upon which is placed the Koran or one of the thirty sections of it. After learning the alphabet the boys take up the study of the Koran, memorizing entire chapters of it until the sacred book is entirely familiar.

A peculiar method is followed in learning the Koran. The study begins with the opening chapter, and from this it skips to the last. The last but one is then learned, then the last but two, and so on in inverted order, ending finally with the second chapter.

A Few Casual Inquiries.

"Now, don't talk too much when you go to call on your neighbor. You may answer questions, of course."

"That is all I ever do," said the child. "And they ask a great many questions. Last time they asked how much salary papa got and if he ever quarreled with you."—Kansas City Journal.

RESOLUTE A GOOD BOAT

Again Defeats the Vanitie Over a Thirty-Mile Triangular Course.
 New York, June 13.—The Resolute again showed what a sterling good yacht she is by defeating the Vanitie over a thirty-mile triangular course off Sandy Hook. She drew away from the Vanitie from the start and, what was surprising, lost only twenty-two seconds on the second leg, which was a broad reach. The Vanitie gained fifty-eight seconds on the last leg, but part of that gain was due to her sailing in a better wind than the Resolute. The actual difference between the two yachts at the finish was two minutes and forty-six seconds.

HANS WAGNER, GREATEST BALL PLAYER IN THE GAME TODAY

Roger Bresnahan, Cub catcher and former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, says he considers Hans Wagner to be the greatest ball player in the game. He cites Wagner's steadiness, his wonderful batting record, fielding and base running ability, and the fact that he has kept this place for seventeen years. Wagner broke into baseball with the Louisville club in 1897 and played every position in the infield before settling at short-stop.

THE MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

Source of Unlimited Contributions to the Riches of Literature.
 He came timidly into the editor's office.
 "Pardon me, sir, but would you like an authoritative article on the immigration question?"
 "That isn't quite in our line."
 "How about feminism?"
 "Afraid we cannot use it."
 "Perhaps you would like to have Wall street shown up in an imitatively witty and yet dignified and searching manner?"
 "Sorry, but it does not interest us."
 "Well, say a stirring article on Mexico, giving the inside facts."
 "Nothing on Mexico today."
 "Perhaps you would like a bunch of wonderful short stories?"
 "We are rather long on short stories."
 "Well, how about some poetical masterpieces? Anything from four cantos up. You know, they are quite fashionable now. Can let you have a metrical best seller in a couple of weeks."
 "I am afraid not. Is there anything you cannot furnish?"
 "Nothing, sir. Philosophy, history, poetry, humor—how about a series of snappy articles on health? Perhaps you would like to have your readers diet by a new system just invented. It makes no difference; there is nothing in the whole range of literature that I cannot supply you with. Here's my card. In case you want anything let me know."
 He got up to go. The editor smiled.
 "May I ask whether you run an agency or a syndicate?"
 "Neither, sir. I am only the proud father of a nineteen-year-old girl who has a talent for literature and has just been graduated from an American college."—Life.

STRANGE FIND OF PREHISTORIC MAN

A remarkable find was made Friday on the Seelig fruit farm, at Alum Cliffs, Ross county, where workmen were engaged in excavating gravel. In a space about thirty feet square they uncovered fourteen skeletons of men, women and children. The bodies were found in oblong rectangular pits, each skeleton laid out at full length. Some were small, indicating children, while others were unusually large. The men were probably more than six feet in height.

Alum Cliffs forms a hillside along Paint Creek, and it is a well-known fact that, like all other streams in Ohio, it flowed north before the ice sheet covered Ohio. The creek once flowed up what is now the valley of North Fork, but when the ice receded the water left by it, barred from the valley, cut its way through the southern barrier of hills, thus forming Paint creek gorge.

If examination shows that the deposit would tend to show that the stream cut through the Selig gravel deposit may have been pre-glacial.

KLEPTOMANIAC IS STILL PILFERING

The man who has a mania for stealing pillows from verandas, was busy again Friday night, with the result that one West Temple street resident reported three feather pillows missing, and the police are now working on a slight clew which may lead to the apprehension of the guilty parties.

Thursday night thieves removed four pillows from another W. Temple street veranda, and now the citizens in that part of town are removing such articles from their verandas when they close their house for the night.

A reward has been offered for the capture and conviction of the kleptomaniac, and the authorities promise to give the fellow the limit if they can lay hands upon him.

BOY BLOWS OFF HIS SISTER'S HEAD

Gladys Irene Tingley, 13, daughter of Oliver Tingley, of Madison county, was instantly killed, Friday, when her brother, Clyde, aged 9 years, pointed a shot gun at her and playfully pulled the trigger, not knowing the weapon was loaded.

The charge struck the girl in the head, almost completely tearing her head from her body. The children, with their mother, were in the kitchen at the time, while the father was at the barn a short distance away.

The shock nearly unbalanced the mother, while the boy who unwittingly committed the deed, is heartbroken.

BAPTISTS DEFEAT THE METHODISTS

Friday's game was the second of the season's tournament in the Sunday School league and the coming contests for the pennant promise to be exciting.

MISSING RETURN

By Associated Press.

Portland, Ore., June 13.—Captain John Berry, pilot of the missing balloon, Million Population club, and his aide, George Y. Morrison, walked into Oregon City at 9:45 today. Their balloon was wrecked in a tree in a forest some miles from Oregon City Thursday night. Berry was rendered unconscious, but was not seriously injured.

Thoughts Higher Up.
John Thompson was a good husband, but he possessed a weakness for constantly teasing his wife about dress. One day he found her sitting by the window.

"Watching the styles, Emmy?" he asked.

"Now, John, give me credit for having thoughts higher than dresses now and then," she answered.

"Then you must be thinking of a new hat," he retorted.—Lippincott's.

Certainly Not.

Unpopular.

"Nobody does," replied Miss Cayenne. "All the men have to wear dancing pumps."—Washington Star.

FEATS WITH THE CAMERA.

Difficult to Snap Fast Moving Objects at a Given Point.

Only an expert, and he only after much practice, can take a photograph of a rapidly moving object at a predetermined point—for example, an express train with the cowcatcher just at a white chalk mark on a tie or a baseball at the instant the bat strikes it.

The reason for this is twofold: First, there is a certain appreciable time between the mental decision to do a thing and the actual doing of it; second, it takes a certain appreciable time for the impulse given by pressing the button or squeezing the bulb of a camera to travel to the shutter and open it. The latter may in a very fine camera be only one-fiftieth of a second, but even the fiftieth of a second would mean a difference of two feet.

C. H. Claudy in an article in the Camera says that not more than once in four attempts will even an expert catch the precise instant he is seeking. The average man snaps his camera at the moment the ball is striking the club or racket, and by the time his shutter has worked the ball has gone. A tennis ball travels nearly a mile a minute when struck hard. That is ninety-six feet a second, so in a lag of one-tenth of a second between the pressing of the button and the opening of the shutter the ball will move nearly ten feet, and ordinary cameras work no faster than this. So one need not wonder if even experts fail.

When Seals Were Food.

The gray seal used to serve Cornishmen as an article of diet. Stephen Hawker tells how he and a brother clergyman, having asked a landlady at Boscastle what she could give them for dinner, were told "Meat and tattie." They tried to get her to particularize the meat, but "Meat, nice, wholesome meat, and tattie" was the full extent of her information. When the meat was served it tasted like veal, but was unaccompanied by any vestige of bone that might have enabled the diners to infer its origin. Years afterward Hawker lighted on the nature of the "meat" when he read in an old history of Cornwall that "the people of Boscastle do catch divers young soyles, which, doubtful if they be fish or flesh, conyunge housewives will nevertheless roast and do make thereof savory meat."—London Graphic.

How He Proposed.

"She" was working at a woolen article for a bazaar. "He" asked her what she was making.
"A comforter," she replied.
"That is exactly what I want," he answered.
"Oh, I shall be most happy to make you one," she innocently rejoined.
And she did!—Weekly Telegraph.

Something Better.

"No," said Senator Wombat. "But what's one paltry government plum? I have secured for you some plum seeds from the department of agriculture. Go home and start an orchard of your own, my friend."—Judge.

Modern Compliment.

"Of course mothers should be examples for their daughters," said Mrs. Evergay.

"And they are," replied Colonel Courtly. "The girls of today will be entitled to congratulations if they succeed in being as good looking as their mothers."—Washington Star.

Makes a Difference.

Beulah—Don't you think he's an awful bore?

Belle—Why, no, I don't.

"Why? Didn't he talk incessantly while he was with you?"

"Yes, but he talked about me."—Yonkers Statesman.

Why She Was Glad.

"I'm so glad you proposed! That puts me one up on Della. She's only had three this month."—Philadelphia Record.

"Do you believe in saving up for a rainy day?"

CLOUD FORMATIONS.

What We Know About Them Seems to Be Mainly Guesswork.

Many scientists have told us how clouds are made. Most of the textbooks on physical geography tell all about them, but it is all guesswork. Clouds are a mystery. It is true they are composed of moisture floating in the air, but how did the moisture get there?

It is held that particles of moisture are evaporated from the earth's surface by the heat of the sun. This moisture does not form into clouds immediately. Indeed, the passage of the moisture from the earth to the upper air is quite invisible. It was formerly supposed that this moisture was condensed by the cold of the upper air into rain droplets, which formed the clouds.

But scientists hold that the tiny particles must have something to condense upon. They used to tell us that the moisture collected upon dust particles to form into rain drops. Now they are practically agreed that it is something else, but they don't know what.

Anyway, when these drops get large enough they accumulate into vapor, forming clouds. When the droplets get too large and heavy to float in the air they fall to the earth in the form of rain, and this is about all we actually know about clouds.—War Cry.

Twenty Years of Pleasure.

St. Michael's church, Macclesfield, England, is noted for its beauty. In "The Manchester and Glasgow Road" Charles G. Harper tells of a curious epitaph in the churchyard upon one Mary Broomfield, who died in 1755, aged eighty. It reads as follows: "The chief concern of her life for the last twenty years was to order and provide for her funeral. Her greatest pleasure was to think and talk about it. She lived many years on a pension of ninepence a week and yet saved £5, which at her request was laid out at her burial."

Deduction.

"Tell me what you eat, and I will tell you what you are," boasted an amateur sage.

"Well, I ate a welsh rabbit and a lemon pie last night."
"You're a fool."—Kansas City Journal.

Knew Her Weakness.

Mrs. Cross—Are you a man or a mouse? Mr. C.—The question is superfluous, my dear. If I were a mouse you'd be on a chair screaming.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Dry.

"Why do you associate with all those university professors?"
"My doctor says I must live in a dry atmosphere."—London Telegraph.
